COOLIDGE WILLING TO TAKE CANDIDACY AGAIN SAYS FRIEND

Would Run If Hoover
Declines Coupal
Tells Reporter

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Politicians who are fighting the heat of a torrid summer in Washington were genuinely interested today by the intimation that Calvin Coolidge would not be averse to becoming a presidential candidate in 1932—under certain conditions.

The first of these conditions is, of course, that President Hoover retire from the picture, and the second is that Mr. Coolidge would not be called upon to make a fight for the Republican nomination.

The intimation came from Col. James F. Coupal, who not only was Mr. Coolidge's physician throughout his tenure of the White House, but was and is his close personal friend as well.

Col. Coupal is quoted from Lake Minnetonka, in Minnesota, where he is spending a vacation, as saying that Mr. Coolidge was a disappointed man when his famous statement "I do not choose to run" was taken so literally.

As further quoted by the St. Paul Dispatch, Col. Coupal said: "Mr. Coolidge will run for the presidency in 1932 if the people of this country evince an unmistakable and unquestionable desire to draft him to pull the country out of this period of depression, and if he can have the presidency without any political or other obligations attaching to it."

If it does nothing more, this statement by a man as close to the former president as his physician opens up a wide field for speculation.

There is, of course, no intimation that President Hoover contemplates or ever has thought of retiring from the 1932 picture. He has never, it is true, announced his

STATE FACING HOT WEEK-END

Warmer Weather Is Expected Sunday

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Seeing little reason to hope for rain, Ohio today faced another scorching week end.

Warmer weather for tomorrow was predicted by Weather Observer William H. Alexander. He said there was a bare possibility that the state might be hit by local thundershowers late Sunday afternoon.

Although this section was visited by rain late yesterday, little relief resulted. The city continued to swelter today and temperatures mounted toward the point where they left off.

The heat's toll continued to grow throughout the state. Frank Shears, 45, died of sunstroke while working on a new swimming pool here. Four buildings were struck by lightning near here in the rainstorm. A barn three miles from the city was burned before firemen arrived.

ASK THOMPSON BE GIVEN FREE HAND

BUCKEYE LAKE, O., Aug. 1.—Bitterly attacking what they described as "outside influences," sportsmen today planned to demand that State Conservation Commissioner John W. Thompson "be given a chance to make good without having his hands tied by politicians."

That request, along with the suggestion that the state division of conservation be forever separated from the state department of agriculture, were expected to be presented to Commerce Director Theodore Tammann and State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthery by members of the state conservation council this afternoon.

TREASURY BALANCE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Treasury balance as of July 30, $279,472,415.03; expenditures $11,490,723.48; customs receipts, $33,417,050.93.

WILL NOT TURN PRO
PARIS, Aug. 1.—Henri Cochet, ranking amateur tennis player of the world, emphatically denied today that he would turn professional shortly.

KILLED AS FOLDING BED FOLDS

DENVER, Aug. 1.—Warren E. McLean, 61, a barber, is dead and his wife Sarah, 56, is suffering from a nervous shock today as the result of the collapse of an old-fashioned folding bed last night.

McLean was killed almost instantly when caught between the upper and lower sections of the bed. Mrs. McLean was held fast for twenty minutes until her screams attracted aid.

CAPONE FREE UNDER BOND WHILE LEGAL BATTLE IS PLANNED

Long Fight Expected;
Judge Refuses To
"Bargain"

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Al Capone hopes for a "soft" penalty for all his crimes were dashed against the firm stand of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson but today the "big shot" of the gangsters was free on $50,000 bail where two days ago he expected to be on his way to Leavenworth by this time.

Capone's comparative freedom bid fair to last several months or more than a year as a complicated and long legal battle loomed following Judge Wilkerson's surprise action.

There were also indications that Judge Wilkerson would not sentence Capone after all, as Capone's lawyers indicated they would serve change of venue because "Scarface Al" thinks the judge is prejudiced.

Continuing his unexpected procedure, Judge Wilkerson yesterday morning ordered that the charge of liquor conspiracy against Capone be revised so as to call for a stiffer sentence, and agreed to Capone's motion to withdraw his plea of guilty to income tax evasion and to the case for call September 8.

It was plainly the attitude of the court that Capone must expect the most severe punishment possible and that no "bargaining" was to be countenanced.

COLLEGE ATHLETE STABBED BY FATHER

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 1.—Suffering a knife wound said to have been accidentally inflicted by his father, Kenneth Burley of Bridgeport, O., 19-year-old Marietta College baseball captain, was in a serious condition in a hospital here today.

Wald Burley, the youth's father, stabbed him without any intention of injuring him, according to authorities who conducted an investigation. He was held on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Young Burley, a senior at Marietta College, is an all-around athlete, having received letters in baseball, football and basketball.

TWO INJURED WHEN CULVERT CAVES IN

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 1.—Two men were reported to be in serious conditions today from injuries suffered when they were caught in a cave-in of an eighteen-foot culvert on the A. and P. highway, four miles east of Aberdeen yesterday.

The injured men are P. Lewis of Wrightsville, and Louis Gruner, of Ripley. Both had spine injuries.

Allowed Hearing On Motions; Two Of Affidavits Denied

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—With the "Potter murder mystery" revived in a startling manner by the filing of new trial motions for Hymie Martin, convicted Pittsburgh racketeer, claiming sensational new evidence, preparations were started here today to hold an oral hearing on the motion in Cuyahoga County common pleas court.

The hearing will be held sometime this month, it was indicated today. Judge Walter McHahon, who presided over Martin's first trial for the murder of ex-councilman William E. Potter when the Pittsburgh beer runner was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying, will hear the new trial arguments.

Fifteen affidavits containing purported new evidence, the most startling of which was the complete denial of the original testimony by Betty Gray, the state's star witness, were filed by defense counsel William E. Minshall in support of his motion.

Vehement denial of allegations contained in two of the affidavits followed a few hours after the new trial motion had been filed. Queen Esther Morgan, another leading state's witness, reiterated her positive identification of Martin as the man she saw enter the Parkwood avenue murder apartment either the day of the murder or the day before.

Two of the affidavits, those sworn to by Mark Houston, a defense witness and cousin of the girl, and another girl friend, claimed that Miss Morgan identified from photographs, Solly Hart, reputed Cleveland gangster, instead of Martin as the man she saw enter the apartment building.

But the girl denied the contentions made in the two affidavits when interviewed at her home in Akron. "I saw Hymie Martin enter the building," she declared.

Miss Morgan and her mother went to Akron to reside after the close of the trial.

Outstanding among the affidavits was that of Betty Gray, who completely denied her damaging testimony given at the trial and claimed she had given it only in fear of a jail sentence which she alleged police had threatened unless she identified Martin.

Betty was the one who furnished detectives with the first clue which led to Martin's arrest in Pittsburgh. She identified him in a lineup there and again in Cleveland and testified at his trial that she had let him into the murder apartment two days before Potter was killed.

In her affidavit she says it was not Martin she let into the murder suite.

Another startling charge made by the girl in her affidavit is that Fred C. Laub, custodian of the murder apartment building, told her he had cleaned the murder suite on February 4, the day after Potter was known to have been killed.

PALIN ENTRY SETS WORLD PACING MARK

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 1.—Rail-birds today boasted seeing a world's record set in a light harness race at the Fort Miami track last night. Star Etawah, driven by Sep Palin, set a world's mark of 1:59 3/4 for pacing under the lights while competing with Winnipeg, world's champion pacing gelding, in a match race.

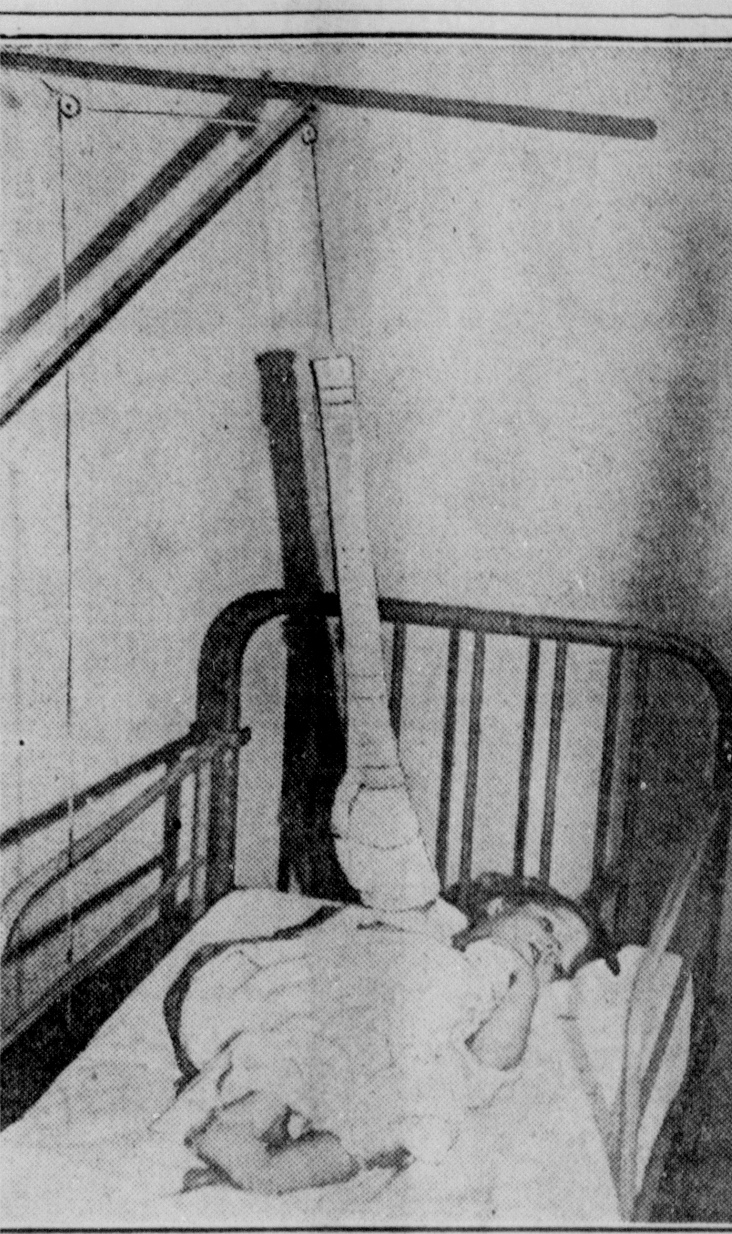

A last three-quarter mark set by Star Etawah home for the record. Both entries were from the stables of E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill.

A straight heat triumph was driven by Dr. H. M. Marshall, veteran, Urbana reinsman, with Hollywood Lexington in the cleared trot. Hollywood Hunter took the classified pace and Calumet Combs won the two-year-old trot.

VIRGINIA TO PAY

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 1.—Miss Virginia Dawes, foster daughter of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, will pay a fine of $3 for speeding this morning in Magistrate Harry T. Porter's court but in order to avoid the eyes of the curious and the cameras of photographers she will send the premium for driving forty-five miles an hour by messenger.

TINY VICTIM OF GOTHAM GUNMEN

This picture tells a tragic story of the plight of two and one-half-year-old Michael Bevilacqua, who got into the path of a machine gun bullets intended for an unidentified New York gangster. The baby and four others were shot down, one of whom has died.

OHIO AND KENTUCKY MAY STAGE OWN PRIVATE BATTLE OF BRIDGE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Although lacking the horse pistols and fiery language employed in the Oklahoma-Texas dispute, Ohio and Kentucky today were in the throes of an interstate bridge controversy which threatened to develop into a raging legal encounter.

The quarrel reached the supreme court stage late yesterday, and gubernatorial intervention apparently is next on the schedule of the Oklahoma-Texas program is to be followed.

Flames of the battle over the bridge were unappetizingly fanned by the outbreak of an automobile license war between Ohio and Kentucky, causing bystanders to predict that out of the two quarrels will grow entanglements which the neighboring states will be unable to straighten out for many weeks.

Supreme court action was started to prevent John G. Quinlan, Brown County Probate Judge, from hearing condemnation proceedings brought by the Kentucky highway commission against the Mayville Bridge Co. of Cincinnati, an Ohio corporation, which owns the land which is the cause of the rum-pus.

Blue-grass state battlers contend that the Kentucky highway commission has the right to appropriate land in Aberdeen, O., for the Ohio approach, to the bridge, which connects across the Ohio River with Mayville, Ky.

Bridge company defenders asserted in the supreme court action that the state of Kentucky was without authority to bring such a case in Ohio.

The even bolder charge that an act of congress under which the Kentucky commission is proceeding is out of harmony with the intentions of the men who drafted the nation's constitution also was contained in the arguments.

Judge Quinlan already having ruled that the act is constitutional and having ordered the Brown County Sheriff to select a jury with which to try the case, only writ of prohibition to the supreme court can stop him.

A hearing will be held at 2 p. m. next Thursday when the supreme court will consider the granting of an alternative writ.

FLYERS TO RECEIVE HOMAGE OF TURKISH NATION AT PALACE

Round Of Receptions
Welcomes Pilots
At Istanbul

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 1.—Refreshed by another night of rest after their record-breaking non-stop flight of 5,011 miles from Brooklyn, N. Y., to this city, Russell Boardman and John Polando rose today ready to receive the homage of the Turkish nation at the hands of the Ghazi Mustafa Kemal Pasha, iron-willed dictator of the new Turkey.

Seldom has Oriental seclusion opened its doors more graciously to Occidentals than to the modest young New Englanders who, almost given up for lost in an Atlantic, dropped down at San Stephan, airdrome Thursday like Genl from an Arabian Nights tale.

After a visit to the governor of Istanbul, Boardman and Polando were to go today to Dolmabahce Palace to sign the register as guests of the president of the republic. Later with the American Ambassador, Joseph C. Grew, they were to be carried in the Golden Horn and across the sea of Marmora to Yalova to be received by the Ghazi at his villa. He had ordered to be prepared for presentation to the American flyers two jewel-encrusted medals commemorating the first non-stop flight from the United States to Turkey.

The aviators will be guests Sunday at a reception at the American summer embassy and at a banquet to be given by the municipality of Istanbul, which will present each with an Oriental rug.

POWERS OFFER MONEY TO TIDE OVER PERIOD

France And America
Loan $250,000,000
To Save Bank

PARIS, Aug. 1.—French and American aid to the extent of $250,000,000 to tide the Bank of England over its present financial difficulties was officially announced here today.

Representatives of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the banks of France and England, announced they were signing an accord whereby this sum would be placed at the disposal of the British banking institution.

The communique revealing the agreement was issued following a lengthy meeting between Sir Robert Kindersley, representing the Bank of England, and M. Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France.

The loan was made necessary by the heavy withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England during the last few days. Two recent increases in the bank's rediscount rate only partially succeeded in stemming the outflow.

The French and American banks will share equally in the huge credit, marking the first time in history that France and the United States have contributed on an even basis to a credit of this sort. The terms of the loan were regarded as indicative of the enormous strength gained by the Bank of France during the last few months. It was the first time since 1907 that the Bank of England had been forced to resort to foreign aid.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The Federal Reserve Banks of New York in association with other federal reserve banks has agreed to participate in the $250,000,000 credit to the Bank of England. It was officially announced here today.

The announcement said that the New York Reserve Bank will purchase $125,000,000 of prime commercial bills from the Bank of England. The agreement of the Federal Reserve Bank has been made in cooperation with the Bank of France as part of a credit arrangement in favor of the Bank of England aggregating in all about $250,000,000.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Bank of England today officially announced acceptance of a $250,000,000 credit from the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The bank's announcement added that the treasury had authorized a 15,000,000 pound increase in the notes of issue for a period of three weeks, raising the total fiduciary issue to 275,000,000 pounds.

WET GROUPS OPPOSE PROHIBITION VOTE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Opposition of three organizations to the wording of his proposed amendment today had thrown cold water on State Senator Joseph N. Ackerman's hope of obtaining a referendum next May on Ohio's prohibition laws.

Objections have been entered by the Crusaders, the association against the prohibition amendment and the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

"If passed, the amendment would, in our opinion leave the return of the saloon up to the legislature, and we insist on the state of Ohio being safeguarded against the return of the saloon," a joint statement issued by the three opposing organizations said.

The statement urged Ohio voters to refuse to sign the petition circulated by the Ackerman group.

BEING A BOY NOT SO NICE

Girl Who Ran Away Disguised In Boy's Clothing
Makes This Deduction

BUYCRUS, O., Aug. 1.—Her boy's disguise—overalls, a shirt, boy's shoes and a self-made haircut—failing to hide her feminine identity, Arlene Strickling, 18, who vanished from her home in Ashland last Tuesday, was held at the home of Marshall Ralph Chilcotte in Attica today.

The girl unwittingly revealed her identity after she had accepted a ride from Chilcotte who found her hitch-hiking along a road near Attica.

At first deny she was a girl, Arlene gave herself away with tears and frightened at the revelation, attempted to jump from Chilcotte's moving automobile.

Taken to Chilcotte's home in Attica, the girl tearfully confessed that she had run away from home "because of ill treatment," and that she had been looking unsuccessfully "for a man's job."

Finding a "man's job," however, she admitted, was not so easy, especially when there are so many real men looking for employment also.

"Being a boy isn't so nice either," Arlene told Chilcotte, "especially if you are a girl."

She said she didn't like particularly sleeping in box cars or in the open.

RECORD HOPES RECEIVE SETBACK NEAR IRKUTSK

Make Second Emergency Landing On Hop From
Moscow Over Siberian Wastes; Had Hoped
To Beat Post-Gatty Record

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—The bid of Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn for a round the world flight record met with an unexpected setback today when the airmen were forced down at a point about 300 miles west of Irkutsk, Siberia.

Herndon and Pangborn left here at 10:20 a. m. eastern daylight saving time yesterday, hoping to reach Irkutsk, a distance of approximately 2,600 miles, in twenty-four hours of flying.

They planned to sweep across the vast stretches of Siberia with stops only at Irkutsk and Khabarovsk and thereby better the time made by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty.

Herndon and Pangborn were the first to make four stops in Siberia before heading across the Bering Sea to Nome, Alaska.

Previous reports received here stated the airmen had made an emergency landing at Kustanal, about 800 miles east of Moscow. But took off again a short while later, and landed at Osmk at 2 p. m. local time, 5 a. m. Columbus time.

SENATOR STRICKEN

United States Senator Hubert D. Stephens of Mississippi has been dangerously ill, following an emergency operation for appendicitis, in Memphis, Tenn.

Stephens, 53, was taken to the hospital at Memphis last night after being stricken while en route to his home in Jackson, Miss.

Stephens has been in the hospital for several days. He is expected to recover, but his condition is still serious.

Stephens is a member of the United States Senate from Mississippi. He was elected in 1928 and re-elected in 1930.

CONGRESS TO PROBE INSURANCE PLAN TO AID UNEMPLOYMENT

Scheme Gains Favor In
Capital After Warnings
Heard

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—While congressional leaders support President Hoover in his campaign against wage reductions, it became apparent today the new congress will inquire into the advisability of imposing federal unemployment insurance on American industry as a safeguard to workers in future periods of depression.

The warning of Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, that the government will have to keep its hands off the unemployment insurance in the near future if industry fails to care for its own workers, met with considerable favor on capital hill. Like warnings have been issued recently by senators Couzens (R) of Michigan, Brookhart (R) of Iowa, and Fletcher (D) of Florida.

A congressional inquiry into the whole subject undoubtedly will be ordered next winter. It probably will be conducted by the senate interstate commerce committee, of which Couzens is chairman, since he is favorably inclined to the subject. The inquiry would be made to determine which system could be adopted in this country and whether its potential benefits would justify the cost. At present, various systems of unemployment insurance are in effect in eighteen nations, including England, Germany, France and Russia.

Governor Ritchie suggested that American industry could avoid compulsory insurance by initiating a system of setting aside compulsory reserves to maintain employment during periods of depression. He said that as industry has set aside reserves to maintain dividends in bad times, so it should set aside reserves to keep its workers employed in hard times. This view was endorsed by senators Fletcher and Harris (D) of Georgia.

This failure of the police to keep abreast of the complexities and "big business" methods of present-day crime drew the following statement from August Vollmer, chief of the Berkeley, Calif., police and professor of police administration at the University of Chicago. In a supplemental report which the commission appended and highly endorsed:

"Under our form of government and, more especially, due to the attitude of the American people generally, law enforcement agencies are usually held in contempt, and law enforcement is one of our national jokes."

BEER MAKER IS GANG VICTIM

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—His reputation for making "the finest beer" in the exclusive North Shore Residential District was believed to have brought on the death of Matt P. Hoffman, 33, whose body was found in a cornfield near here last night.

Hoffman's bullet-ridden body was clothed in trousers and house slippers he had hastily donned Thursday night when answering a call for delivery of two barrels of beer.

His business, a small independent brewery, with a customers list of private families and a few local houses was said to be a thorn in the side of the Capone organization. Police laid his murder to that outfit.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF POLICEMAN TO DIE

AKRON, O., Aug. 1.—Convicted of murdering Patrolman Forrest L. Good of the Akron police force, Gust Tamules, 37, of Youngstown, today awaited the formal sentence of death in the electric chair for the slaying.

After nine hours of deliberation, a common pleas court jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree against Tamules late last night. The jury failed to recommend mercy, making a sentence of death mandatory.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Opening Liberty Bond quotations today were as follows: Liberty fourth 4-14s $103.7; Liberty fourth 4-14s $104.26; Treas. 3-18s 45 $101.14.

LUNCHEON-BRIDGE

One of the most delightful affairs of the mid-summer season was the luncheon-bridge given by Miss Mae Orr at her home on E. Main St., Friday afternoon. Forty guests were received for luncheon at 1 o'clock and later ten tables of bridge were in play.

Miss Elsie Kennedy was presented a prize for holding high score at the close of the games and Mrs. Lawrence Landaker was awarded second prize. The consolation trophy was presented Mrs. Arthur V. Perrill. The Orr home was attractively decorated with large bouquets of summer flowers.

Among out-of-town guests at the affair were Mrs. Philip Prugh, Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. L. A. McGee, Dayton; Miss Jean Trout, Springfield and Mrs. Frank Creswell, Cedarville.

XENIA ODD FELLOWS

INVITED TO WILMINGTON.

Members of the Xenia 1. O. O. F. lodge are invited to attend the annual picnic of Wilmington 1. O. O. F. lodge at Pelee's swimming pool, Wilmington, Sunday. A basket dinner will be served at 1 p. m. and at 2:30 o'clock a softball game will be played between the Wilmington lodge team and a team from the Xenia organization. Horseshoe pitching, croquet, tennis, swimming and other sports will be enjoyed during the afternoon.

BIBLE CLASS ENJOYS

SUPPER FRIDAY EVENING

A delightful evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Kyle, W. Third St., Friday evening when members of the McElree Class of the Second United Presbyterian Church were entertained at a covered dish supper served on the lawn of the Kyle home. More than thirty guests attended the supper and a social time was enjoyed afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Organ and son, Charles, Bowling Green, O., have arrived here to spend a month with Mrs. Organ's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Maley, S. Columbus St.

The reunion of the Dean family will be held Tuesday, August 11, at the home of Mr. Arthur M. Wright, two and one-half miles southwest of Bellbrook. All relatives of the family are invited and are asked to bring well filled baskets.

A stated assembly of Wright Council, No. 96, R. and S. M., will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple. Newly-elected officers will be installed at this time.

Mrs. Earl McCoy, S. Detroit St., and Miss Frances Barr, Leaman St., returned home Saturday morning after spending a week at Cedar Point on Lake Erie. They also went by airplane to various places in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. James Savage, Home Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lampert, N. Detroit St., left by motor Saturday morning for Lake Umbagog, Canada, to spend two weeks.

Mr. H. E. Schmidt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schmidt, W. Third St., has gone to Oak Hill, O., where he is located with an European corn borer patrol.

Mr. Lawrence Filson, W. Second St., employee of the Dayton Power and Light Co., was struck by lightning several weeks ago, continues to slowly improve. He is slowly regaining his vision and is now able to distinguish objects. He is confined to his bed but is able to sit up a short time each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harner will move the first of the week from 406 W. Market St. to property at Market and West Sts., which they recently purchased from Miss Aletha Harner.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Liming, Hussey Pike, are announcing the birth of a son at their home Saturday morning.

Mrs. Leah B. Laycock, former Dayton social worker, and Mrs. Martha E. Davis, Stevens Pottery, Ga., who have been connected with the O. S. and S. O. Home the past year, left for New York Saturday where they will take a summer course at the New York School of Social Work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Craven, Dayton, have returned home after a trip through the west, including a tour of Yellowstone Park. Mrs. Craven is a former Xenia woman.

Ann and Bobby Ackerman have returned to Lafayette, O., after spending a week here with their father, Mr. Dewey Ackerman, Chestnut St.

Caesarscreek Grange will meet at the Caesarscreek School, Wilmington Pike, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. A special program will be presented under the direction of the lecturer, Miss Grace Middleton.

Irwin McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doss McCoy, W. Main St., who received severe lacerations on the face when bitten by a large dog several days ago, has been removed to his home from Espey Hospital. He is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sheridan and family, Yellow Springs and Mr. Harold Sheridan and Miss Mary Himes, Beattytown, left Friday evening for a week's vacation in Michigan.

Miss Mary Louise Smith, daughter of City Manager and Mrs. M. C. Smith, E. Third St., was removed to Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Saturday morning. Miss Smith is suffering from an attack of appendicitis.

Court House offices will close next Wednesday and Friday afternoons, and all day Thursday, owing to the fair, the county commissioners decided Saturday.

BEAVER SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS NEW TEACHER TO END DISPUTE

With three members present, the Beaver school board elected Walter Stebbins, Phillipsburg, teacher in Beaver creek High School and acting principal of the township schools, at a meeting at the high school on the Dayton Pike, Friday night.

Stebbins, whom it is believed, will accept the appointment, although he has been re-elected for another term at Phillipsburg, will succeed P. G. Meranda. Meranda has completed a two year term and was re-elected for a three-year term by the board of education last February 14. This election, according to a ruling of the attorney general, is illegal because the action was taken by the board of education more than three months prior to the beginning of the term.

WEDS SOCIETY MAN

Mr. and Mrs. James Graham, W. Main St., will return to their home here Sunday after spending the past month at their cottage along the Little Miami River, north of Xenia.

Mr. J. T. McCormick, Dayton, was the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Foster B. Clemmer, N. Galloway St.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Horner, N. West St., have as their guest over the week end their niece, Mrs. Herbert Scott, Springfield, Mrs. Horner and Mrs. Scott spent Friday in Dayton with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thornhill.

Jack and Bobby Post, Columbus, are spending a week here with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Miller, N. King St.

A heavy rain which fell for forty-five minutes in Dayton Friday afternoon sent the mercury scurrying down 21 degrees inside an hour failed to visit Xenia and vicinity.

A slight drop in temperature and light breeze felt here following the Dayton downpour, made restful sleep more possible Friday night, but the mercury was soon going back up.

At 6 o'clock Saturday morning thermometers in the city registered 76, which was three degrees cooler than the record at the same time Friday.

The highest recording Friday on the government thermometers at the Xenia Fish Hatchery was 96, the lowest, 70. At 6 o'clock when the instruments for the 24 hour period, the mercury stood at 84.

Probable thunder showers predicted for Sunday, gave the only hope of relief in weather conditions.

Thermometer readings in Xenia for Saturday were:

6 a. m.	76
8 a. m.	80
10 a. m.	83
11 a. m.	86
12 m.	90

WAYNESFIELD BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

WAYNESFIELD, O., Aug. 1.—Because of a run on the institution, the Citizens Commercial Bank of Waynesfield, Auglaize County, was closed today by its board of directors.

The institution had $50,000 capital stock and $243,000 total resources. D. R. Wells was president of the institution and J. B. Wells, cashier. D. J. Schurr, state liquidating agent, was placed in charge of the bank by State Banking Superintendent Ira J. Fulton.

MINERVA, O., Aug. 1.—Directors of the Savings and Bank Company of Minerva, Stark County, today closed the institution and placed it in the hands of the state banking department.

A run on the bank's funds was the cause of the action, the directors stated in an official announcement. The institution was capitalized at $125,000 and total resources were nearly $1,000,000. J. A. Grunier was president of the bank, W. R. Kurtz, secretary, and F. R. Patterson, cashier.

FRAME FARM HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

A large frame house located four miles from Jamestown on the Jamestown-Paintersville Pike, and owned by Charles Keener, Dayton, burned to the ground early Saturday morning. The house was unoccupied at the time, the last tenants having moved out two weeks ago. Origin of the blaze has not been determined.

The fire was first discovered by neighbors about 1:30 a. m. and the Jamestown fire department, which was summoned, protected the barn and other out-buildings from catching. The house was a two-story, ten room dwelling and was known as the old Morrow homestead. Amount of the loss had not been determined by Mr. Keener Saturday morning.

GROSBEAK GETS ITS BOARD WINTER, Conn., Aug. 1.—A rose-breasted grosbeak has selected the home of Mrs. A. B. Comstock, 108 Main street, as its boarding place. The bird sleeps on a towel rack on the back porch and goes into the neighboring cemetery for the day, after getting breakfast about the yard. In return the bird has been singing the household awake at a seemly hour in the morning.

Irene Delroy, stage and screen star, formerly of Bloomington, Ill., is the bride of William L. Austin, Jr., real estate operator and member of a socially prominent Philadelphia family. He is the son of a former president of the Baldwin locomotive works. Mayor Walker performed the ceremony in New York.

WAVE IN CREEK DROWNS FIVE

COVINGTON, Ky., Aug. 1.—Swept away when caught under a six foot wall of water as a result of a cloudburst last night, the bodies of three children and two women were sought in Benkllick Creek here today.

The victims of the huge wave are Mrs. Lola Lucas, 27; her two twin children, Ruth and James; 7; Mrs. Martha Miller, 31; and Mary Lou Harvey, 5, all of Latonia.

Three other persons who were among those seeking relief from the excessive heat also were engulfed by the wave, but managed to escape.

The rushing wave caused by heavy rains farther up the creek first swept Mrs. Lucas and her children away, but her husband, who was with them in the creek, saved himself.

PERRY MEMORIAL IS DEDICATED FRIDAY

PUT-IN-BAY, O., Aug. 1.—Commemorating "a pioneer step in the maintenance of peace through disarmament," the million-dollar Perry Memorial today had been dedicated here as a beacon in the struggle for world peace as well as a commemoration of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry's famous victory over the English fleet in the war of 1812.

Hundreds of governmental notables from the United States and Canada and thousands of persons from nearly every part of America attended the ceremonies.

Tumultuous applause greeted John H. Clarke's reading of President Hoover's dedicatory address in which the chief executive termed "this memorial to the valor of Commodore Perry and his men a pioneer step in the maintenance of peace through disarmament."

BUILDING ABLAZE

Three fire trucks answered an alarm at the Greene County fairgrounds at 2:20 Saturday afternoon, to find a frame building housing the men's rest room ablaze. Cause of the fire was not learned. The building was located on the west side of the fairgrounds and not near any other structures.

BOYS AIMED TO TOTE AUTO AMBRIDGE, Pa., Aug. 1.—Why a grown man should be dashing down a main street here in pursuit of a group of boys puzzled police, and they stopped the runner and asked him what the matter might be. "They were carrying off my car," the man said. And they were. When police reached the scene they saw one of the new baby machines parked with the front wheels on the sidewalk.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS

Editor, The Farm Journal

Written for Central Press

Again and again the vexed question of the wheat and cotton surpluses comes to the fore and is argued on the newspaper front pages and elsewhere.

Boards of trade and influential senators request or demand that the farm board promise to keep the great "stabilization" holdings of the market until prices reach a certain figure. The farm board declares it will do nothing of the sort, but will retain freedom of action, reminding everybody that its reason for existence is to get the best possible prices for farmers, and that it is ridiculous to suppose that it will do anything that would tend to make prices lower.

The fundamental trouble, of course, is that the surpluses do exist, and everybody knows they exist, and they cannot be hidden or forgotten.

Indeed, it is likely that the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and the 1,300,000 bales of cotton held by the stabilization corporations—these being the commonly accepted totals—are more conspicuous, more "in the show window," than if in private hands. Certainly never have excess supplies of any commodities been so well advertised.

As a matter of theory, a surplus ought to be less of a weight on prices when it is in "strong hands" than when it is privately owned, and subject to being "dumped" at any moment. That was the theory on which the marketing act was framed. But it appears that the endless controversies and extra advertising of the wheat and cotton over-supplies have more than neutralized that effect.

The position of the farm board is very simple. It says: "We own this stuff, it exists, it must be sold some time. The only other thing we could do would be to destroy it, and

MICE SHOW CANCER NOT HEREDITARY

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Overcoming a woman's traditional fear of mice, Maud Slye of the University of Chicago, has performed autopsies on 98,000 of them in the twenty-three years she has been studying heredity of cancer. Her studies showed, she told medical men, that the odds against inheriting cancer tendency down through many generations are large. Inbreeding a cancer-free male mouse with a cancer-ridden female through four generations, she discovered only twenty-three out of 205 progeny, developed cancer.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Trust ye in the Lord for ever; for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength.—Isaiah, xxvi, 4.

GARDENING

The most successful gardening movement in the history of our country was started in 1917, when the United States entered the World war. It was early decided that food would win the war. Every householder was urged to plant his home grounds. A multitude of people dug up their back and front yards, planted potatoes and beans and other good vegetables. While a great deal of very blundering work was done, a big addition was made to production, and it all helped end the war.

After that great effort passed, the garden movement languished somewhat. Millions of people of course have always had gardens and always will. They see no sense in buying vegetables, when they can raise them themselves. And they love the brightness and beauty of flowers. Instead of spending hundreds or thousands of dollars on extensive trips to find beauty in foreign lands or distant parts of the United States, they produce it in their own back yards.

The majority of people seem now to have too much wanderlust to settle down to spend their idle hours in a garden. They want to be on the go. Wherever they are, they long to be somewhere else. So their war garden has grown up to weeds, while they continually pursue the will of the wisps of happiness on its never satisfying flight.

Meanwhile, if we neglect gardening, we allow our homes to lack beauty. Our towns become dull and mediocre. If we want a bright and cheerful home if we want a town which visitors will admire, we simply have to make that flower garden flourish.

The time will come when people will dislike to live in an undecorated home, as tasteful women dislike to dress in homely clothes. Such a home will seem ugly to them, and they will surround their dwellings with those smiling flowers that make a home look as if one loved it.

REGARDING PRISONS

The ninth report submitted by the Wickersham commission to Mr. Hoover thus castigates the prison system that still prevails in this country:

"We conclude that the present prison system is antiquated and inefficient. It does not reform the criminal. It fails to protect society. There is reason to believe that it contributes to the increase of crime by hardening the prisoner. We are convinced that a new type of penal institution must be developed, one that is new in spirit, in method and objective."

A good deal of that criticism is justified. Our prison system is antiquated. Apparently it does not reform many criminals. Quite likely it does in cases add to crime. The protection it extends to society is effective for the time being, whatever the ultimate consequences of it may be. The Wickersham investigators base their recommendations for a new and better prison system on individualization. That is "scientific." The great difficulty that always will be encountered in the treatment of criminals as individuals lies in diagnosis. Obviously it is irrational to incarcerate a soft, young violator of a statute of questionable social importance, with seasoned second-story men; but what are you going to do when you find criminals as hard-boiled as fourteen at forty?

Certainly there is room for improvement in our treatment of those who stray from the straight and narrow path. Our prison system needs overhauling, as many of our other governmental institutions do. Only let us not be carried away by too great sympathy for those who have declared war on society. The element that obeys the laws and keeps society going is entitled to some consideration.

The crime problem is elemental. As far back as the dark morning on which Cain slew Abel, we have records of anti-social acts. As far as one can project his imagination into the future, we shall have them. Cruelty will not diminish them, any more than coddling will. Segregation gives society a respite from crime's depredations. Whether paroles and indeterminate sentences are to be encouraged and extended is a question still unanswered by experience. The more decent the treatment accorded to criminals the more indecent, apparently, their attitude toward society becomes. The arm of the law cannot safely be allowed to grow too weak and flabby.

Any improvement in the treatment of criminals in this country must come by act of the people; and any radical improvement can hardly be looked for, as long as so large a percentage of the respected citizenry impinges so heavily on the line that divides statutory crime from moral crime.

UP FROM NOTHING

As one reads obituary notices of leading men in business and politics, one sees that many of these personages rose from humble beginnings. One constantly reads that this or that man started without a penny, that he worked for a few dollars a week at the start.

For the average person, it is an advantage to start from a family that has money. It means so much in the way of education. But frequently the possession of money so takes the grit out of a boy, that he will never get far. And poverty acts as a spur. Some boys have so much training in overcoming obstacles, that nothing daunts them. They can just overcome anything.

No boy should think that his poverty is any real obstacle to his success. The principal obstacle lies in his own nature, in his unwillingness to work and learn.

"How do you determine which movies your children shall see?" asks a White House Conference on Child Health and Protection questionnaire. In general, by finding out which they have decided to see.

"Genius cannot be bequeathed," asserts the Kansas City Star. No, thank goodness.

One main objection to sending beneficiaries of the municipal bounty to Elise has vanished. The way things are going, they wouldn't vote for the mayor in the coming primaries anyhow.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK.—The greatest free shows in New York are to be found in the radio broadcasting rooms. Few natives realize this.

How many Manhattanites know that, for the trouble of arranging for a pass, they can hear great symphony orchestras (in the flesh, not over the air), listen to crooners as they sway in dreamy, marcelled revelry, watch comedians "feed" and "gag" a few feet away, observe the dress and mannerisms of people who hitherto have been merely voices and names?

I have already told of the tenses, the throbbing modernity which pervade the tall rooms whence amusement goes forth to millions. The audiences—enjoined to absolute silence, subject to instant ejection for chronic coughing (theatre coughers, please note)—represent an odd cross-section of the New York scene. They are well dressed, as a rule, and most of them are out-of-towners.

The attitude of the performers varies. Amos and Andy, for example, always broadcast privately; they will permit no visitors. Rudy Vallee, on the other hand, like most of the others, basks in the flattery of fans who are impelled to view him in the flesh.

Incidentally, radio "ghosting"—frowned on by the big networks—has developed further than most listeners realize. In Chicago not long ago a whole series of talks by "well-known movie stars" were delivered into recording machines by broadcasters who had practiced imitations of the purported stars until they were letter-perfect.

MEMORY

Puttering around the Battery the other afternoon I glimpsed a great craft moving to sea in the blue haze, heard a deep, lowing siren that twanged old memories. It was the Leviathan, eastbound; the Leviathan, looking not a day older than when I boarded her in Cherbourg to return to my last year at school.

Irrelevantly, I thereupon recalled an incident in the dining saloon that trip. Every evening the waiter had delivered such an eloquent spiel on the merits of the crepe suzette, that I let him bring me an order, although I was invariably stuffed already. It seemed to make him happy, even if the luscious pastry went untouched.

On the last day I inquired: "John, why do you bring in that extra dessert every night? I never have room for it and it's wasted." He grinned sheepishly and whispered: "It's not wasted. We get whatever the guest leaves. I could eat those things three times a day. They aren't but a bite, sir; just little flapjacks!"

WITH A FAST CAMERA

Oscar of the Waldorf, associated with spangled feasts for a quarter of a century, never cooked a meal in his life and at home his wife shoos him out of the kitchen, according to James Remington McCarthy, whose "Peacock Alley," to be published soon, goes behind the scenes of the fashionable hotel.

The repeaters are at work on Fifth avenue again, sporting traffic in to the side-streets like a sled on a stream of ants. . . . Quite recently they smoothed the surface from 8th to 42nd, now it's from 42nd to 60th. Already there are bumpy places along last year's stretch; so it goes.

A United States agent who worked in Chicago on the Al Capone tax drive told a group of newspapermen today that New York gangsters are "bikers." He added that he was certain Mr. Dutch Schultz couldn't have banked more than $2,000,000 in the last couple of years.

THE CONCERT OF NATIONS

DIVERSIFICATION SEEN AS DEFINITE SOLUTION FOR AMERICAN FARMER

WASHINGTON.—"Any able-bodied man," said Congressman Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, "can support himself and his family on a farm—provided he isn't too deeply in debt and his taxes aren't too heavy."

"A one-crop farmer can't, always. His crop may fail or sell for so little that he loses on it. A farmer who diversifies judiciously is sure of a living. He has shelter. He can build his own house if necessary. He is sure of food. His own land and labor insure him a sufficiency of it. "Oh, he can live—privately, pretty well, and mightily independently. "He can, if his creditors and the tax collector don't take all he can produce faster than he can produce it. But they do, these times—in the west, practically with no exceptions."

"Has western agriculture's stand-

(he speaks of the eastern farmer as virtually a suburbanite), "advanced too rapidly?"

"Our entire network of enormously expensive rural roads—better than any but the biggest cities and of living," queried the Dakotan, "has been built since I cast my first vote. Our fine central schools, with buses to gather the young folk together and take them home again, are as recent. No solid town of a handful of thousands' population is without its waterworks and sewer system. "Despite the depression, every family drives its auto. Every house has its telephone. And its radio. I can remember when the ruralite, visiting a city hotel, was warned not to blow out the gas. Imagine him now as needing any instruction concerning the method of extinguishing the incandescent!"

"I quite appreciate," said the congressman, "the value of good roads and schools, of sewers and waterworks, of the telephone, the radio and the automobile. "But consider. "New England was two centuries and a half in working up to all these modern improvements. "It's less than 50 years the west has equipped itself just as completely."

"May it not be that the western farmer's living standard has developed out of proportion to the rate at which it was possible for the western soil to pay for it?"

"In short, has not western agriculture overworked its credit?"

"Modern convenience is splendid, but does not so young a region's possession of it explain the west's high taxes and burden of private indebtedness?"

If so, what's the remedy? "Ultimately," replied Representative Johnson, "no doubt the states will have to take over the land that can't meet taxes, and private mortgages will get their share under foreclosure."

Then what? "The land," answered the congressman, "will go, to new owners, for whatever the states and the foreclosing private mortgages can sell it for. They can't afford to hold it for long, non-productively, but will be forced to dispose of it cheaply, on easy terms of payment. "It will mean a new era, not of free land, as in the old days, but of very cheap land."

The generation of pioneers will be squeezed out, in the rising generation's favor? It seems a terrible injustice. "Life," said Congressman Johnson, "is full of injustices."

Well, one can see how it may follow as to the states' land holdings. But will not the foreclosing mortgages inaugurate a system of tenancy?

"I don't think so, to any great extent," said the representative. "Large scale or chain farming may succeed with a crop like wheat where the yield is very large per acre, as in Kansas. Diversification, however, can only succeed by virtue of close personal management and attention. It is inherently individual."

"Besides, however powerful a great land-holding company may be financially, its tenants will be more powerful electorally. They can soon make greedy landlordism unprofitable."

Rats Give The Plague To Humans

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Plague is probably not considered by you to be a matter of personal danger. Yet we are living at the end of one of the great plague epidemics of history. Not since the thirteenth century had a great pandemic of plague swept the world. It reached its height in the fourteenth century, was known as the Black Death. Then it gradually subsided. For over a hundred years it was not heard of. It was supposed to be a thing of the past, like sweating sickness.

Then, in 1871, it broke out in China, thence traveled to India and by trade routes to the entire world. The pandemic was at its height in 1907, when every country in the world had a more or less serious experience with it. The reappearance of the plague was called by Dr. Osler "the most important single fact in the modern study of contagious diseases."

In 1903 the California ground squirrel became infected with the disease and since then a few cases have occurred in the United States every year. Modern preventive medicine has kept it within bounds and usually confined it to seaport towns. Rats acquire the disease from fleas. Humans are infected by flea bites—from fleas that have been living on infected rats. Fleas can bite an infected human, sucking up his blood and then bite another human and inject the germ into the latter's blood with the bite.

Many other rodents can carry the disease—squirrels, woodchucks, prairie dogs, weasels, etc. The rat and the ground squirrel are probably the only ones dangerous to man. The existence of rats and rat colonies is always a potential source of danger. A columnist recently described an enormous rat colony on Riker's Island, near New York. It was estimated that there were 15,000,000 rats on Manhattan Island, most of them around the wharves. Rats always will appear where pieces of food and scraps are thrown out, and left uncovered. This should be impressed on workmen who eat lunch where they are working on a house or building. Scraps of lunches lying about will attract rats who set up housekeeping in new buildings and infect them permanently.

There is, of course, no danger in rats unless they become infected with the disease. But since they are susceptible this may occur any time. They are found and it has been estimated that if 85 per cent of them died without breeding they could quadruple their numbers in a year. If there are 15,000,000 rats on Manhattan Island and they quadrupled their single fact in a year, and each rat harbored 38 fleas (which is an actual count) and they got infected with plague, you can figure out the consequences for yourselves.

For most communities, however, there is a safeguard in the fact that it is essentially a disease of hot climates. Outside of the immediate tropics this disease is rather definitely limited in the extent to which it will spread.

Editors Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth Street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Wife Feels Like Leaving Mate

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Miss Lee: I have been married nearly 15 years; have a family and my husband is a very good-hearted man and good to his family but he never has any sympathy or affection for me. Says it looks foolish when I say anything to him about not caring for me any more."

"I work hard both out of doors and in the house, from early morn until dark at night. Sometimes I get discouraged and feel like leaving them alone for a spell and see if my family would appreciate me when I return."

"We are living in a very jealous neighborhood. One woman tries to have things in a mix-up all the time."

"May I also ask my blonde hair and blue eyes need to cause any trouble more so than black hair and dark eyes? It seems to, I find."

"Wondering Lou."

I have answered many questions signed "Wondering," my dear woman. I think you have, probably, over-looked your answer. I think it is too bad that your husband does not show more affection and concern for you, but as he is good to you all I wouldn't let it grieve you too much. He might be the kind that made a fuss over you before your face and then was untrue to you. There are men like that.

He has simply gotten out of the habit of showing affection openly, and would feel foolish doing so, just as he says it is no indication that he does not care. And as to the hard work you do and the many hours you put in, oh, my dear, how many million women are feeling just that very self-same way! I wonder how many every day go to bed worn out and sighing how hard they work and how tired they get and feel that if their families appreciated it all, they wouldn't mind the drudgery. And wonder if they went away or died or something whether then they would be missed.

Families really do take mothers for granted and expect too much from them. Only when the youngsters are grown up and away from home do they realize what mother has done for them.

But you can look back on your own young days at home, doubtless, and remember that you also were not blameless in that respect toward your mother.

As to the troublesome neighbor. There is one such in every neighborhood. Yours is not unique in that respect. She is naturally worried about a husband so much younger than herself, and one whom she married when he was in his teens. Sympathize with her and don't let her drag you into any unpleasantness if you can help it.

It's funny about the blondes that "gentlemen prefer." It used to be the dark-eyed and haired gals were fore, fly to their aid.

Maybe the blue-eyed, fair haired lassies seem innocent and helpless and our gallant gentlemen, therefore, fly to their aid.

M. C.: Your wife is little different than others. Very few folk like to listen to other people's woes. They all have enough of their own.

Take the tip. Take care of your health so that the disease, a predisposition to which you may have inherited, does not get a hold on you. If you do not know how to go to a good doctor and ask his advice.

Make up your mind to be a stoic. Sympathize with your wife if she has troubles, but don't inflict yours on her. "Laugh, and the world laughs with you," you know. "Weep and you weep alone." That is more or less true.

PINCH HITTING for Phil Frame by R. A. H.

Although several of the future members of the University of Southern California's 1931 varsity football squad are working as policemen, icemen, laborers, etc., a large group is engaged in the apple industry, although not in the selling end.

The boys have contracted to take over the entire crop of a large apple orchard and, after customers have been obtained, they will pick and deliver the fruit. Among the Trojan apple pickers are Ernie Smith, Bryon Gentry, Alfred Plachn, Aaron Rosenberg, Johnny Baker, Captain Stanley Williamson, Garret Arbelide, outstanding star of the 1930 squad and Robert Thompson.

Golfers frequently report freak shots but Cedar Lake, Ind., reports the first instance in which a golf ball solved a chicken stealing mystery.

Julius Creadon, Chicago, drove a ball on the Surprise Park course there, and it struck an opossum that was trotting across the fairway. The animal had part of a chicken in its mouth and had just come from the chicken coop of Jess Matthews, farmer living nearby. The shot was the answer to where twenty chickens had disappeared recently.

Freak shots at the Xenia Country Club have not been common, and it is a matter of record that only two "hole-in-one" have been registered on the local links. H. L. Sayre and C. E. Arbogast are the golfers who entered the golf hall of fame by turning this trick.

Shortly after the new shuffleboard court was put in at the club recently, a slate was fastened to a post to be used in keeping score. And a caddy, slicing a drive off No. 1 tee, put his shot right through the slate.

Young Red Faber of the Chicago White Sox (he is only 43) and the only spitballer still left in the American League lost a tough game recently and consoling himself by considering his seven-year record. Since joining the Sox in 1911, Red has worked in almost 3,800 innings. He has won 240 games while losing 186. His best years were: 1915, won 24, lost 13; 1920, won 23, lost 13; 1921, won 25, lost 15 and 1922, won 21 and lost 17.

GOLF for GIRLS by GLENNA COLLETT

Women's National Golf Champion Written for Central Press and The Gazette

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth of a series of instructive golf articles written by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vane, national champion and America's best known woman golfer, for Central Press Association and The Gazette.

Number 9

I have found that the basic principle that influences accuracy and direction and helps tremendously in getting maximum distance on all shots is this: keep the arms straight.

The left arm should be as straight on the backswing as the player can possibly get it.

That's no news to the good players—but all beginners should be as straight on the backswing as the player can possibly get it.

Glenna Collett winners should learn this as soon as possible and never forget it. Watching any good golfer and noting her correct swing proves this.

Breaking the left at the elbow on the backswing is a fault common to many players. If you discover yourself employing this bad habit, do not be discouraged but work religiously to overcome this fault.

While the left arm should be straight on the backswing the right should be straight when the club head is coming into the ball. This arm should remain straight in the early stage of the follow through.

In my next article I'll outline the qualities you must possess to become a good tournament player and how to develop what match players call the "competitive mind."

Painters And Barbers Split Double Bill

PAINTS TAKE FIRST BY SHUTOUT; DROP SECOND SHORT TILT

Home Runs Feature; Both Teams Make Hits Count

The Graham Paints and the Wood Barbers, National League softball teams, are just where they were this time Thursday in the league standing as the result of dividing a double header at Cox Field Friday evening.

The Painters won the first game by shutting out the barbers 7 to 0 and then dropped the second game, abbreviated to four and one-half innings by darkness, by the score of 8 to 4. The second game was postponed from June 26 when the teams were prevented from getting together in a regular scheduled contest.

Errors contributed to the Graham victory in the first contest, since both pitchers were in form and gave evidence of unbending themselves of a pitching duel had the support stood up under the strain. But two big innings put the winners over in this fracas, the Painters scoring all their runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

Kersey opened the fourth with a life on Finlay's error. Milburn was safe on Peters' error and Downey forced Kersey at third. Muterspaw was safe on an error by Reeves. L. Cope walked to force in a run, leaving the bases clogged. Bolser then shed himself of a home run and it was all over but the shouting. The homer was the only hit of the inning. Another home run produced the next two runs, Milburn hammering out a four base clout in the fifth after W. Cope was safe on Reeves' error. The winners wasted two hits in the sixth. Downey permitted but six hits and kept them scattered, one to an inning, while the Painters got five hits off Townsley, two of them homers.

Seeing a five-hit pitching effort not good enough to win, Hurley limited the Painters to two hits in the second game while Downey weakened and the barbers took advantage of this to smack out eleven hits and score eight runs. Errors and a hit helped bring in two runs in the first. Shaw singled in the third and was plated on a homer by Murrill and in the sixth and seventh. The singles and a double produced four more runs.

Pulkerson hit for the circuit to produce the Paints' first run in the second, Hurley fanning the other three batters who faced him in that inning. Two errors and the second hit of the side, scored three runs for the losers in the fourth. Since four and one-half innings were completed before darkness, the game goes in the records as a complete contest. The scores:

MERCHANTS TO PLAY MIAMISBURG TEAM

Manager Jesse Chambliss announces that his Xenia Merchants will play the Miamisburg Shamrocks at Washington Park Sunday. Instead of the St. Agnes team, from Dayton, which was scheduled for the date. The Dayton team is in a league and will have to play in a double header Sunday. Manager Chambliss says that his team and the Dayton team will meet at a later date.

EIGHTY-ONE ENTRIES IN CLASS EVENTS FOR COUNTY FAIR RACES

With eighty-one horses entered in the various class events, entry lists for which closed Thursday night, and eighty-two already entered for the five stake races, the three day Greene County fair meeting next week will have a full program, in the opinion of Secretary J. Robert Bryson.

The Dr. H. M. Marshall stables, Urbana, will be well represented among the horses at the local track, fifteen head belonging to that well known horseman, having been entered.

FAR FROM creating a new fiddle middle to draw battle between Mickey (Mouse) Walker, the middleweight who fights like a heavy, and Jack Sharkey, the heavyweight who fights like a body, may have clarified things in the matter of finding a suitable opponent to joust with Herr Maxie Schmelling sometime next summer.

The draw verdict saved Sharkey from being cast out into the outer darkness of discard, something that would have been his sad lot if the two judges had seen eye to eye with Referee Donovan, who thought Walker won.

The verdict cost Sharkey a lot of prestige but the Boston job is still on the fringe of heavyweight challenges. Had Mickey won the decision, the bookies for battle between Jack and Primo Carnera would have been impossible. Now it's still an attractive card.

HERE WOULD be an interesting setup among the heavyweights: Sharkey to battle Carnera. Walker to take on Tommy Loughran.

The two winners to meet for the right to clash with the jarring German and his world heavyweight title.

The first two matches would be highly interesting. The public gave evidence of becoming steamed up over the proposed battle between the gob and the Italian giant (which had been scheduled for this month) when Madison Square Garden intervened and stopped arrangements. The Garden had Carnera lined up for a crack at Schmelling and the papers said Primo could not meet a contending heavyweight until he had disposed of or been disposed of by Moxie.

When the Garden obtained a cancellation of the battle it left unanswered the question of whether Primo could really lick as good a man as the gabby gob.

SHARKEY, regardless of his showing against the Mick, would be a good match with Carnera.

However, a tussle between Walker and Loughran would be still better. Tommy gave Walker a 10-round pasting in 1929 when the Toy Bulldog tried to win Loughran's lightweight crown.

Loughran has improved some since then. Walker has improved a great deal. They are the two lightest men among the heavy weight contenders today and would be bound to make a much better match than the Mickey-Jack bout was.

A fight between two winners of those bouts would be an attractive one and would produce as logical a contender for the heavy weight crown as we've had since Gene Tunney's pre-title days.

Later a program was presented at the I. O. O. F. Hall, W. Main St. Talks were given by George Lutz, Dayton, grand president and Richard Coleman, Dayton, past grand president. A bouquet of flowers was presented the grand president, the presentation being made by Attorney George H. Thorne. Refreshments were served later. The next district rally will be held in West Milton in October.

DROP FIFTY-FIVE GUARDS FROM PEN

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Fifty-five guards at Ohio Penitentiary were dismissed from the payroll today as a part of assistant welfare Director W. J. Kennedy's program for a reduction in expenses to meet the seven percent slash ordered for all state departments by State Finance Director Howard L. Bevis.

Officials at the prison said the dismissal of the fifty-five guards would effect a saving of approximately $7,500 a month. Warden P. E. Thomas assured that the reduction of the guard force would not affect the continuance of maintenance of order and safety at the prison.

Ball Yard Banter

BROOKLYN'S pitching problems may come day be solved for down in Richmond, Va., there's a young hurler—20-year-old Jimmy Pattison—who has just tossed a no-hit no-runner Jimmy is the property of the Robins.

The Chicago Cubs are leading their league in hitting and fielding, but they're a few kilometers out of first place in the standing. What's the answer?

Every team save one in the National league is outbating every team in the American holding the same relative position in the batting lists. Fifth place St. Louis Browns have a few strokes edge on the fifth place Brooklyn Robins.

The Robins still have some two weeks of batting on the road before they return to Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, for a stay. However, their foes from now on until they get home won't be as tough as recent ones were.

The four leading Philadelphia Athletic pitchers have won nearly 60 games. That's 15 more than have been turned in by the four leading St. Louis Cardinal mound-men.

FINED THIRD TIME; THREE OTHERS ALSO FINED AFTER FIGHT

Glenn Johnson drew his third fine of $25 and costs in less than three weeks in municipal court Saturday.

Judge E. D. Smith found Johnson guilty of disorderly conduct, and also made a finding of the same nature against his wife Hazel, and Ed. Thoroman his brother-in-law and neighbor on Walnut St. Each drew a $25 fine, and all made arrangements to pay and were released. A disorderly conduct charge against Everett Thoroman, son of Ed. Thoroman, was dismissed.

The quartet was arrested as the result of what is said to have been a free-for-all fight which started after Johnson and his wife, who is suing him for divorce, met to fix up their affairs preliminary to separation.

Johnson was first arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge preferred by his wife, July 16 and was fined $25. Two days later he was again before the court on a charge of assault and battery on complaint of his mother-in-law. That time he was fined $25 and costs and given thirty days in jail. After serving a few days he was released on payment of his fine. While he was in jail, his wife sued him for divorce.

INTER-ISLAND PLANES

HONOLULU, Aug. 1.—Transportation between the various Hawaiian Islands has been speeded up by use of the airplane. The Inter-island Airways, a flying company, now maintains four amphibian planes which are kept in regular service among the islands. Rough inter-island channels are now crossed in rapid time instead of lengthy trips by boats.

On Society Beach

Back to London

Fully equipped with his famous underslung pipe, Charles G. Dawes, American Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, is shown sailing from New York to resume his diplomatic duties in London after a summer sojourn in the United States. He is expected to play an important part in straightening out Europe's economic crisis.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The stock market gave a fairly satisfactory account of itself in a quiet week-end session today, with continued liquidation in special issues largely offset by the irregular improvement recorded in the rank and file of speculative favorites.

Heavy pressure was brought to bear against both Case Threshing and International Nickel, on reports that a downward revision in dividend rates will be ordered at the next meeting of each. Case Threshing, after breaking to a new bear market low at 52 1/2, rallied to 54 1/2 for a net loss on the day of 1 1/2 points. International Nickel was offered in large blocks sinking to 12, for a net decline of 1/2 point.

The Theater

Speaking of first-class, dyed-in-the-wool, honest to Agnes movie entertainment, just read this list of titles of pictures to appear at Xenia theaters next week: "Kiki," "Shipmates," "Women of All Nations," "Little Accident," "Many A Slip," "Women Love Once" and "Kiss Me Again."

Here is a range of screen entertainment from the sublime to the ridiculous, from hilarious comedy to passionate romance. It includes pictures made from tried stage successes and from original stories and covers a list of stars that is a cross section of Hollywood's telephone book.

Mary Pickford comes to the Orphum Theater Sunday and Monday in a United Artists sound version of the old success, "Kiki" in which Miss Pickford plays a role foreign to her past experiences. Xenians will remember Norma Tallmadge in a silent version of this opus not so very long ago. The story was an international stage success and the name part lends itself admirably to Mrs. Fairbanks. She is supported in the film by Reginald Denny, Joseph Cawthorn, Margaret Livingston, Phil Tead, Fred Walton and Edwin Maxwell.

The Bijou will open the week with Robert Montgomery's first starring vehicle, "Shipmates," in which Robert is the sailor-hero of a Metro production described as a nautical romance. Dorothy Jordan, who played with Montgomery in "Love in the Rough," performs opposite the star and a splendid supporting cast assists them. Ernest Torrence, Hobart Bosworth, Cliff "Ukelele" Lee, Edwards, Gavin Gordon, Joan Marsh, Edward Nugent, Hedda Hopper, George Irving and others are in the cast. The film will be screened Sunday and Monday.

Those tremendously popular soldier heroes, Sergeant Flagg, formerly Captain Flagg and Sergeant Quirt, return to the screen again in the new Fox film, "Women of All Nations," which is at the Bijou Tuesday and Wednesday. Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, as you already know, are the principals in this team and they are supported by a bevy of beauties in the new picture. This supporting group includes Greta Nissen, the beautiful Norwegian blonde, in her return to screen work after long absence. Others in the cast are El Brendel, Mimi Dorsay, Marjorie White, T. Roy Barnes, Bela Lugosi, Humphrey Bogart, Joyce Compton, Charles Judels and others.

On the heels of these merry-makers comes a Paramount vehicle for the return of Eleanor Boardman to the screen after a long absence. It is called "Women Love Once" and pits the pretty star opposite Paul Lukas in a delightful drama by Zoe Akins from her own original stage play, "Daddy's Gone A-Hunting," which enjoyed great success. Juliette Compton, Geoffrey Kerr, Helen Johnson and others are in the film, which appears here Thursday only.

"Kiss Me Again," a First National version of the celebrated Victor Herbert musical romance, "Milk Modiste," is at the Bijou Friday and Saturday. The film, of course, takes its name from the famous waitess that was the hit of the original Herbert production. Bernice Claire takes the part of the flirtatious Fifi, made famous by Fritzi Scheff years ago and in which she played a stage revival last winter. Miss Claire is aided and abetted by Walter Pidgeon, Edward Everett Horton, June Collyer (the bride of Stuart Irwin) Frank McHugh and Claude Gillingwater.

Delightful nonsense is at the Orphum Tuesday and Wednesday in the Carle Laemmle Universal presentation of a starful bit of hilarious celluloid called "Little Accident." It is a screen version of the prize-winning stage success by Thomas Mitchell and Floyd Dell and has been given a sparkling cast. Douglas Fairbanks and pretty Anita Page play the leads, but they are ably aided by "Slim" Summerville, Zasu Pitts, Joan Marsh, Sally Blane, Roscoe Karns, Myrtle Stedman and others.

The Orphum's busy week of entertainment follows with Joan Bennett and Lewis Ayres, in another Universal starring number called "Many A Slip," rated as one of the season's most hilarious comedies. It is a delightful tomfoolery and includes many of your favorite players, such as "Slim" Summerville, Ben Alexander, Virginia Sale, Roscoe Karns, Vivient Oakland and J. C. Nugent.

A Western called "Wild West Whoopie," featuring Jack Perrin and his horse, "Starlight," will be the Orphum attraction Saturday.

BOOTLEGGER KILLS U. S. AGENTS

Bootlegging is responsible for the death of George Adams, Polish slayer of two special U. S. prohibition agents, John Wilson, of Indianapolis, and Walter Gilbert, of Cincinnati, O., at Ft. Wayne, Ind. The two men had entrapped Adams, a convicted bootlegger, into delivering a load of whisky. Two other agents also were fired upon but escaped Adams' bullets. Above, Adams is with the four policemen who captured him five hours after the shooting.

OHIO DAIRYMEN TO MEET AT WOOSTER

Dairymen from all parts of Ohio will hold their fourth Annual Field Day at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, on Friday, August 14.—The program is arranged to provide something for every member of the family.

The forenoon will be given over to inspection of the cattle, judging contests by 4-H clubs and vocational students, and the regular group speaking program. The special ladies' program will be a feature again this year; the subjects for discussion are, "Insects of the Home and Home Grounds," "The Value of Dairy Products in the Diet," and "Important Things to Know About the Fabrics We Buy."

Twenty five-minute talks will be given on the following subjects: Feeding wheat and sea foods to dairy cattle, the use of feed analysis in making up dairy rations, the steps necessary to produce grade A milk, sterilizing dairy equipment, the effects of heat on the nutritive value of milk, cooling milk at the farm, hay crops and pasture for the dairy farm, the effects of methods of marketing on milk supply, the health of the herd, Bang's disease, and sterility. The crowd will be divided into sections and some talks repeated so that dairymen may select the talks they wish to hear.

The State Breed Associations will meet promptly at 12 o'clock for short conferences and to get acquainted. Beginning at 1:30, there will be addresses by C. G. Williams, director of the Experiment Station, L. L. Rummell, of the Dairymen's Legislative Committee, and Congressman Charles Brand. Following these addresses there will be a question hour. Bring your questions.

Games and athletic contests will be provided for the children, beginning at 1:30. This feature has been much enjoyed at previous field days.

Programs will be mailed on request.

But all the indications have pointed to his desiring to succeed himself next year.

Yet, despite all these indications and despite precedent, rumors will not down in Washington that Mr. Hoover is a disappointed man, and unless conditions are not materially improved by next spring he may decide he has had enough of it. The friends of Mr. Hoover indignantly deny such rumors. Nevertheless they persist.

It is taken for granted that Mr. Hoover will be renominated almost without opposition if he desires it. Mr. Hoover faces a difficult year ahead, after two of the admittedly toughest years any president ever faced. The depression, now two years old, is still with him and showing few signs of lifting. There is unemployment in the industrial centers and 25 cent wheat in the grain belt. The famous prosperity of his predecessor is but a bitter memory.

And to cap this sheaf of trouble, there is a congress coming on in December such as no president ever has been called upon to deal with—a congress so evenly divided as between the parties as to defy prediction at this time as to which party will even be able to organize it. The best bet, in any event, is that it will be controlled by Mr. Hoover's political opponents, both senate and house.

The opening gavel next December will be the signal for perhaps the greatest torrent of criticism that congress has ever visited upon an executive. Every Hoover policy, both foreign and domestic, is in for high-powered shelling.

Given six months of that, on top of his troubles for the past two years, and the belief that is entertained even by some of his friends that he cannot be re-elected, it might well be that Mr. Hoover would decide to let someone else assume the burden. It is purely conjectural, of course, but it is the type of conjecture that the politicians are now engaged in.

Col. Coupa's prediction that "Coolidge is willin'" rather contradicts, however, a story of long-standing in the capital concerning Mr. Coolidge's future. As this story goes, the former president was asked pointblank by a caller at his Northampton home one day whether he would be a candidate in 1932.

After reflecting a while, Mr. Coolidge is said to have replied with his usual terseness:

"If Mr. Hoover's administration is successful, he will succeed himself. If Mr. Hoover's administration is not successful, the Republican nomination won't be worth having."

GEORGE B. OLDHAM, FORMER XENIAN, IS REMOVED BY DEATH

George B. Oldham, 76, former resident of Xenia, died at 7 a. m. Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. O. McDorman, 1415 Pythian Ave., Springfield, where he had made his home for the last year. He had been ill for a month.

Mr. Oldham had been a resident of Jamestown and Xenia most of his life, but since his retirement from business as a travelling salesman a few years ago, had lived in Dayton and Springfield. He was born at Jamestown.

Surviving are two daughters and a son, Mrs. McDorman, Mrs. Thomas Lee, Mt. Arlington, N. J. and Harold Oldham, Massillon. There are five grand children. Mr. Oldham was a birthright member of the Friends Church.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Monday at the Herr and Craver Funeral Home, Springfield. Burial will be made in Jamestown Cemetery.

BELLBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Swallow and daughter Francis, of Belmont, were visitors in the village on Sunday.

Word was received here Tuesday of the death of George Mills, which occurred at the St. Elizabeth Hospital on last Monday. Mr. Mills was a resident of Bellbrook for many years, but the past thirty years of his life was spent in Dayton.

Sugarcreek Twp. has one of the largest 4-H Girls Clubs in the County. They started out in the spring with twenty-seven members and the average attendance since that time has been seventeen. There are four different projects in the club. They are: summer clothing, useful articles, simple desserts and attractive rooms. Mrs. Reising is leader of the club. The officers are Mary Pierce, president; Virginia Lackey, secretary; Mrs. Reising, treasurer; Margaret Moore, recreation leader; Irma Zurovate, news reporter. They have had eleven meetings this summer. The simple desserts girls served lunch at each meeting July 28 the club will have an all-day meeting and will make a float to be exhibited at the Greene County fair on club day.

The local softball aggregation, led by General Norb Reising journeyed to Beavertown on Wednesday evening and attacked a combination team composed of Beavertown and Passadenia players who had been rehearsing for the event in everything but the rule book. A well-played game with the result hanging in the balance till almost the "last horn" was turned into a two-score lead for the Bellbrook team in the first half of the ninth inning. With two down in the last half, and no count, the home team seemed on the verge of conquest when the visiting team scored two runs for the locals. The visitors strongly protested against the scores being counted and demanded that the two would-be score-getters be placed back on the bases, their grounds for the protest being that the scoring was done on a dead ball which had been called by the home umpire. Being unable to effect a reconciliation the game terminated amid a shower of high-classed arguments such as are to be found only on a ball diamond.

Mrs. Joseph Ledbetter (mother of Lee Ledbetter of S. Main St.) was pleasantly surprised on last Sunday when several score of old friends and relatives with well-filled baskets, assembled at the home of her son to remind her that she had reached her 69th birthday. The gathering was made up of five generations, Mrs. Ledbetter's mother now past 86, being present to enjoy the occasion. The feast which was a bounteous one, was followed by a good social time in which games were enjoyed by the younger generations and a review of "old times" by the older generations. Those present to enjoy the happy event were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ledbetter, Mrs. Edith Curl, Miss Jane Curl, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Armentrout, Mr. Kenneth Ledbetter, William Armentrout, Harold Ledbetter, Mary Louise Armentrout, Elwood Ledbetter, Mrs. Dorothy Wead, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Henning and son Walter, Margaret Jane Wead, Joyce Ellen Wead and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ledbetter.

Drivers of sixes never want less

because it takes six cylinders to give the smooth, silent power that makes driving really enjoyable

Ask some of your friends who own sixes if they would ever consider driving a car with fewer cylinders again. Their answers explain why sixes are so popular today.

Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than of giving up any other real advancement of motoring. For them, the whole cylinder question has been settled, once and for all.

Drive a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know the reason why. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice how silently it runs. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smooth flow of power.

Change into "second," hit a faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to barely a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone.

Then, before you leave the six-cylinder Chevrolet, raise the hood while the engine is running—take a look at the source of its performance. The firm, steady operation of six cylinders means lasting dependability. Wearing vibration is reduced. There is less need for repairs.

Over two million owners have proved the value of Chevrolet's six-cylinder design. They have found that Chevrolet costs less for gas, oil and upkeep than any other automobile. They have found it smoother, quieter, more enjoyable in operation! They know a six is better—and would never be satisfied with less!

Congratulations

For more than a decade Xenians have worked towards complete modernization of civic electrical facilities. For years citizens have turned untiring efforts to the problem of fulfilling these worthy desires.

... now a new boulevard lighting system beautifies your streets. A turn of a switch and darkened streets become paths of brilliance, safety and charm.

... now modern traffic signals protect motorists and pedestrians. And a new police call system makes Xenia an even safer city.

It is impossible to estimate the good that will come of these improvements. Your city will be more beautiful. It will be safer. It will impress visitors with greater favor. Above all, Xenia will be a better city in which to live. And good planning has given the entire project the added virtue of economy.

Congratulations on a "better Xenia." The Dayton Power and Light Company is proud of its modest contribution to the completion and success of these civic improvements.

COOLIDGE WILLING TO TAKE CANDIDACY AGAIN SAYS FRIEND

Would Run If Hoover
Declines Coupal
Tells Reporter

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Politicians who are fighting the heat of a torrid summer in Washington were genuinely interested today by the intimation that Calvin Coolidge would not be averse to making a presidential campaign in 1932—under certain conditions.

The first of these conditions is, of course, that President Hoover retire from the picture, and the second is that Mr. Coolidge would not be called upon to make a fight for the Republican nomination.

The intimation came from Col. James F. Coupal, who not only was Mr. Coolidge's physician throughout his tenure of the White House, but was and is his close personal friend as well.

Col. Coupal is quoted from Lake Minnetonka, in Minnesota, where he is spending a vacation, as saying that Mr. Coolidge was a disappointed man when his famous statement "I do not choose to run" was taken so literally.

As further quoted by the St. Paul Dispatch, Col. Coupal said: "Mr. Coolidge will run for the presidency in 1932 if the people of this country evince an unmistakable and unquestionable desire to draft him to pull the country out of this period of depression, and if he can have the presidency without any political or other obligations attaching to it."

If it does nothing more, this statement by a man as close to the former president as his physician opens up a wide field for speculation.

There is, of course, no intimation that President Hoover contemplates or ever has thought of retiring from the 1932 picture. He has never, it is true, announced his

STATE FACING HOT WEEK-END

Warmer Weather Is Expected Sunday

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Seeing little reason to hope for rain, Ohio today faced another scorching week end.

Warmer weather for tomorrow was predicted by Weather Observer William H. Alexander. He said there was a bare possibility that the state might be hit by local thundershowers late Sunday afternoon.

Although this section was visited by rain late yesterday, little relief resulted. The city continued to sweeter today and temperatures mounted toward the point where they left off.

The heat's toll continued to grow throughout the state. Frank Shears, 45, died of sunstroke while working on a new swimming pool here. Four buildings were struck by lightning near here in the rain-storm. A barn three miles from the city was burned before firemen arrived.

ASK THOMPSON BE GIVEN FREE HAND

BUCKEYE LAKE, O., Aug. 1.—Bitterly attacking what they described as "outside influences," sportsmen today planned to demand that State Conservation Commissioner John W. Thompson "be given a chance to make good without having his hands tied by politicians."

That request, along with the suggestion that the state division of conservation be forever separated from the state department of agriculture, were expected to be presented to Commerce Director Theodore Tammam and State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthrie by members of the state conservation council this afternoon.

TREASURY BALANCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Treasury balance as of July 30, $279,473,415.05; expenditures, $11,490,725.48; customs receipts, $33,417,050.98.

KILLED AS FOLDING BED FOLDS

DENVER, Aug. 1.—Warren E. McLean, 61, a barber, is dead and his wife Sarah, 56, is suffering from a nervous shock today as the result of the collapse of an old-fashioned folding bed last night.

McLean was killed almost instantly when caught between the upper and lower sections of the bed. Mrs. McLean was held fast for twenty minutes until her screams attracted aid.

CAPONE FREE UNDER BOND WHILE LEGAL BATTLE IS PLANNED

Long Fight Expected;
Judge Refuses To
"Bargain"

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Al Capone hopes for a "soft" penalty for all his crimes were dashed against the firm stand of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson but today the "big shot" of the gangsters was free on $50,000 bail for two days ago he expected to be on his way to Leavenworth by this time.

Capone's comparative freedom bid far to last several months or more than a year as a complicated and long legal battle loomed following Judge Wilkerson's surprise action.

There were also indications that Judge Wilkerson would not sentence Capone after all, as Capone's lawyers indicated they would serve change of venue because "Scarface Al" thinks the judge is prejudiced.

Continuing his unexpected procedure, Judge Wilkerson yesterday morning ordered that the charge of liquor conspiracy against Capone be revised so as to call for a stiffer sentence, and agreed to Capone's motion to withdraw his plea of guilty to income tax evasion and set the case for trial September 8.

It was plain from the attitude of the court that Capone must expect the most severe punishment possible and that no "bargaining" was to be countenanced.

COLLEGE ATHLETE STABBED BY FATHER

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 1.—Suffering a knife wound said to have been accidentally inflicted by his father, Kenneth Burley of Bridgeport, O., 19-year-old Marietta College baseball captain, was in a serious condition in a hospital here today.

Wald Burley, the youth's father, stabbed him without any intention of injuring him, according to authorities who conducted an investigation. He was held on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Young Burley, a senior at Marietta College, is an all-around athlete, having received letters in baseball, football and basketball.

TWO INJURED WHEN CULVERT CAVES IN

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 1.—Two men were reported to be in serious conditions today from injuries suffered when they were caught in a cave-in of an eighteen-foot culvert on the A. and P. highway, four miles east of Aberdeen yesterday.

The injured men are P. Lewis of Wrightsville, and Louis Gruner of Ripley. Both had spine injuries.

Allowed Hearing On Motions; Two Of Affidavits Denied

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—With the "Potter murder mystery" revived in a startling manner by the filing of new trial motions for Hymie Martin, convicted Pittsburgh racketeer, claiming sensational new evidence, preparations were started here today to hold an oral hearing on the motion in Cuyahoga County common pleas court.

The hearing will be held sometime this month, it was indicated today. Judge Walter McElhannon, who presided over Martin's first trial for the murder of ex-cougar William E. Potter when the Pittsburgh beer runner was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying, will hear the new trial arguments.

Fifteen affidavits containing purported new evidence, the most startling of which was the complete denial of the original testimony by Betty Gray, the state's star witness, were filed by defense counsel William E. E. Minshall in support of his motion.

Vehement denial of allegations contained in two of the affidavits followed a few hours after the new trial motion had been filed. Queen Esther Morgan, another leading state's witness, reiterated her positive identification of Martin as the man she saw enter the Parkwood avenue murder apartment either the day of the murder or the day before.

Two of the affidavits, those sworn to by Mark Houston, a defense witness and cousin of the girl, and another girl friend, claimed that Miss Morgan identified from photographs, Solly Hart, reputed Cleveland gangster, instead of Martin as the man she saw entering the apartment building.

But the girl denied the contentions made in the two affidavits when interviewed at her home in Akron. "I saw Hymie Martin enter the building," she declared. Miss Morgan and her mother went to Akron to reside after the close of the trial.

Outstanding among the affidavits was that of Betty Gray, who completely denied her damaging testimony given at the trial and claimed she had given it only in fear of a jail sentence which she alleged had threatened unless she identified Martin.

Betty was the one who furnished detectives with the first clue which led to Martin's arrest in Pittsburgh. She identified him in a lineup there and again in Cleveland and testified at his trial that she had let him into the murder apartment two days before Potter was killed.

In her affidavit she says it was not Martin she let into the murder suite.

Another startling charge made by the girl in her affidavit is that Fred C. Laub, custodian of the murder apartment building, told her he had cleaned the murder suite on February 1, the day after Potter is known to have been killed.

PALIN ENTRY SETS WORLD PACING MARK

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 1.—Rail-bird today boasted seeing a "work's record" set in a light harness race at the Fort Miami track last night.

Star Ethawah, driven by Sep Palin, set a world's mark of 1.59 3/4 for pacing under the lights while competing with Winnipeg world's champion pacing gelding, in a match race.

A spurt at the three-quarter mark sent Star Ethawah home for the record. Both entries were from the stables of E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill.

A straight heat triumph was won by Dr. H. M. Marshall, veteran Urbana reinsman, with Hollywood Lexington in the classified trot. Hollywood Hunter took the classified pace and Calumet Combs won the two-year-old trot.

VIRGINIA TO PAY

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 1.—Miss Virginia Daves, foster daughter of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, will pay a fine of $3 for speeding this morning in Magistrate Harry T. Porter's court but in order to avoid the eyes of the curious and the cameras of photographers she will send the premium for driving forty-five miles an hour by messenger.

TINY VICTIM OF GOTHAM GUNMEN

OHIO AND KENTUCKY MAY STAGE OWN PRIVATE BATTLE OF BRIDGE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Although lacking the horses, pistols and fiery language employed in the Oklahoma-Texas dispute, Ohio and Kentucky today were in the throes of an interstate bridge controversy which threatened to develop into a raging legal encounter.

The quarrel reached the supreme court stage late yesterday, and gubernatorial intervention apparently is next on the schedule of the Oklahoma-Texas program is to be followed.

Flames of the battle over the bridge were unhappily fanned by the outbreak of an automobile license war between Ohio and Kentucky, causing bystanders to predict that out of the two quarrels will grow entanglements which the neighboring states will be unable to straighten out for many weeks.

Supreme court action was started to prevent John G. Quinlan, Brown County Probate Judge, from hearing condemnation proceedings brought by the Kentucky highway commission against the Mayville Bridge Co. of Cincinnati, an Ohio corporation, which owns the land which is the cause of the rum-pus.

Blue-grass state battlers contend that the Kentucky highway commission has the right to appropriate land in Aberdeen, O., for the Ohio approach, to the bridge, which connects across the Ohio River with Mayfield, Ky.

Bridge company defenders asserted that the state of Kentucky was without authority to bring such a case in Ohio.

The even bolder charge that an act of congress under which the Kentucky commission is proceeding is out of harmony with the intentions of the men who drafted the nation's constitution also was contained in the arguments.

Judge Quinlan already having ruled that the act is constitutional and having ordered the Brown County Sheriff to select a jury with which to try the case, only writ of prohibition b the supreme court can stop him.

A hearing will be held at 2 p. m. next Thursday when the supreme court will consider the granting of an alternative writ.

FLYERS TO RECEIVE HOMAGE OF TURKISH NATION AT PALACE

Round Of Receptions
Welcomes Pilots
At Istanbul

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 1.—Refreshed by a record-breaking non-stop flight of 5,011 miles from Brooklyn, N. Y., to this city, Russell Boardman and John Polando, Boardman and John Polando, rose today ready to receive the homage of the Turkish nation at the hands of the Ghazi Mustafa Kemal Pasha, Iron-willed dictator of the new Turkey.

Seldom has Oriental seclusion opened its doors more graciously to Occidentals than to the modest young New Englanders who, almost given up for lost in an Atlantic fog, dropped down at San Stefano airport Thursday.

After a visit to the governor of Istanbul, Boardman and Polando were to go today to Dolmabahce Palace to sign the register as guests of the president of the republic. Later with the American Ambassador, Joseph C. Grew, they were to be carried in Mustapha Kemal's launch through the Golden Horn and across the sea of Marmora to Yalova to be received by the Ghazi at his villa. He had ordered to be prepared for presentation to the American flyers two jewel-encrusted medals commemorating the first non-stop flight from the United States to Turkey.

The aviators will be guests Sunday at a reception at the American summer embassy and at a banquet to be given by the municipality of Istanbul, which will present each with an Oriental rug.

POWERS OFFER MONEY TO TIDE OVER PERIOD

France And America
Loan $250,000,000
To Save Bank

PARIS, Aug. 1.—French and American aid to the extent of $250,000,000 to tide the Bank of England over its present financial difficulties was officially announced here today.

Representatives of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the banks of France and England, announced they were signing an accord whereby this sum would be placed at the disposal of the British banking institution.

The communique revealing the agreement was issued following a lengthy meeting between Sir Robert Kindersley, representing the Bank of England, and M. Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France.

The loan was made necessary by the heavy withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England during the last few days. Two recent increases in the bank's discount rate only partially succeeded in stemming the outflow.

The French and American banks will share equally in the huge credit, marking the first time in history that France and the United States have contributed on an even basis to a credit of this sort. The terms of the loan were regarded as indicative of the enormous strength gained by the Bank of France during the last few months.

It was the first time since 1907 that the Bank of England had been forced to resort to foreign aid.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The Federal Reserve Banks of New York in association with other federal reserve banks has agreed to participate in the $250,000,000 credit to the Bank of England, it was officially announced here today.

The New York Reserve Bank will purchase, if requested, up to approximately $125,000,000 of prime commercial bills from the Bank of England. The agreement of the Federal Reserve Bank has been made in cooperation with the Bank of France as part of a credit arrangement in favor of the Bank of England aggregating in all about $250,000,000.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Bank of England today officially announced acceptance of a $250,000,000 credit from the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The bank's announcement added that the treasury had authorized a 15,000,000 pound increase in the notes of issue for a period of three weeks, raising the total fiduciary issue to 275,000,000 pounds.

WET GROUPS OPPOSE PROHIBITION VOTE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Opposition of three organizations to the wording of his proposed amendment today had thrown cold water on State Senator Joseph N. Ackerman's hope of obtaining a referendum next May on Ohio's prohibition laws.

Objections have been entered by the Crusaders, the association against the prohibition amendment and the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

"If passed, the amendment would, in our opinion leave the return of the saloon up to the legislature, and we insist on the state of Ohio being safeguarded against the return of the saloon," a joint statement issued by the three opposing organizations said.

The statement urged Ohio voters to refuse to sign the petition circulated by the Ackerman group.

BEING A BOY NOT SO NICE

Girl Who Ran Away Disguised In Boy's Clothing
Makes This Deduction

BUENOS AIRES, O., Aug. 1.—Her boy's disguise—overall, a shirt, boy's shoes and a self-made haircut—falling to hide her feminine identity, Arlene Strickling, 18, who vanished from her home in Ashland last Tuesday, was held at the home of Marshall Ralph Chilcotte in Attica today.

The girl unwittingly revealed her identity after she had accepted a ride from Chilcotte along a road near Attica. At first denying she was a girl, Arlene gave herself away with tears and frightened at the revelation, attempted to jump from Chilcotte's moving automobile.

Taken to Chilcotte's home in Attica, the girl tearfully confessed that she had run away from home "because of ill treatment," and that she had been looking unsuccessfully "for a man's job."

Finding a "man's job," however, she admitted, was not so easy, especially when there are so many real men looking for employment also.

"Being a boy isn't so nice either," Arlene told Chilcotte, "especially if you are a girl."

She said she didn't like particular sleeping in box cars or in the open.

RECORD HOPES RECEIVE SETBACK NEAR IRKUTSK

Make Second Emergency Landing On Hop From
Moscow Over Siberian Wastes; Had Hoped
To Beat Post-Gatty Record

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—The bid of Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn for a round the world flight record met with an unexpected setback today when the airmen were forced down at a point about 300 miles west of Irkutsk, Siberia.

Herndon and Pangborn left here at 10:20 a. m. eastern daylight saving time yesterday, hoping to reach Irkutsk, a distance of approximately 2,600 miles, in twenty-four hours of flying.

They planned to sweep across the vast stretches of Siberia with stops only at Irkutsk and Kharbarovsk and thereby better the time made by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, present holders of the record who made four stops in Siberia before heading across the Bering Sea to Nome, Alaska.

Previous reports received here stated the airmen had made an emergency landing at Kustanal, about 800 miles east of Moscow. But took off again a short while later and landed at Omsk at 2 p. m. local time, 5 a. m. Columbus time.

CONGRESS TO PROBE INSURANCE PLAN TO AID UNEMPLOYMENT

Scheme Gains Favor In Capital After Warnings Heard

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—While congressional leaders support President Hoover in his campaign against wage reductions, it became apparent today the new congress will inquire into the advisability of imposing federal unemployment insurance on American industry as a safeguard to workers in future periods of depression.

The warning of Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, that the government will have to enforce compulsory unemployment insurance in the near future if industry fails to care for its own workers, met with considerable favor on capital hill. Like warnings have been issued recently by senators Couzens (R) of Michigan, Brookhart (R) of Iowa, and Fletcher (D) of Florida.

A congressional inquiry into the whole subject undoubtedly will be ordered next winter. It probably will be conducted by the senate interstate commerce committee, of which Couzens is chairman, since he is favorably inclined to the subject. The inquiry would be made to determine which system could be adopted in this country and whether its potential benefits would justify the cost. At present, various systems of unemployment insurance are in effect in eighteen nations, including England, Germany, France and Russia.

Governor Ritchie suggested that American industry could avoid compulsory insurance by instituting a system of setting aside capital reserves to maintain employment during periods of depression. He said that as industry has set aside reserves to maintain dividends in hard times, so it should set aside reserves to keep its workers employed in hard times. This view was endorsed by senators Fletcher and Harris (D) of Georgia.

BEER MAKER IS GANG VICTIM

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—His reputation for making "the finest beer" in the exclusive North Shore Residential District "was believed to have brought on the death of Matt P. Hoffman, 33, whose body was found in a cornfield near here last night.

Hoffman's bullet-ridden body was clothed in trousers and house slippers he had had hastily donned Thursday night when answering a call for delivery of two barrels of beer.

His business, a small independent brewery, with a customers list of private families and a few road-houses was said to be a thorn in the side of the Capone organization. Police laid his murder to that outfit.

After nine hours of deliberation, a common pleas court jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree against the Tamgules late last night. The jury failed to recommend mercy, making a sentence of death mandatory.

BEAVER SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS NEW TEACHER TO END DISPUTE

With three members present, the Beaver Creek Twp. board of education elected Walter Stebbins, Phillipsburg, teacher in Beaver creek High School and acting principal of the township schools, at a meeting at the high school on the Dayton Pike, Friday night.

Stebbins, whom it is believed, will accept the appointment, although he has been re-elected for another term at Phillipsburg, will succeed P. G. Meranda, Meranda has completed a two year term, and was re-elected for a three-year term by the board of education last February 14. This election, according to a ruling of the attorney general, is illegal because the action was taken by the board of education more than three months prior to the beginning of the term.

WAVE IN CREEK DROWNS FIVE

COVINGTON, Ky., Aug. 1.—Swept away when caught under a six foot wall of water as a result of a cloudburst last night, the bodies of three children and two women were sought in Benklick Creek here today.

The victims of the huge wave were Mrs. Lola Lucas, 27; her two twin children, Ruth and James, 7; Mrs. Martha Miller, 31; and Mary Lou Harvey, 5, all of Latonia.

Three other persons who were among those seeking relief from the excessive heat also were engulfed by the wave, but managed to escape.

The rushing wave caused by heavy rains further up the creek first swept Mrs. Lucas and her children away, but her husband, who was with them in the creek, saved himself.

PERRY MEMORIAL IS DEDICATED FRIDAY

PUT-IN-BAY, O., Aug. 1.—Commemorating "a pioneer step in the maintenance of peace through disarmament," the million-dollar Perry Memorial today had been dedicated here as a beacon in the struggle for world peace as well as a commemoration of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry's famous victory over the English fleet in the war of 1812.

Hundreds of governmental notables from the United States and Canada and thousands of persons from nearly every part of America attended the ceremonies.

Tumultuous applause greeted John H. Clarke's reading of President Hoover's dedicatory address in which the chief executive termed "this memorial to the valor of Commodore Perry and his men a pioneer step in the maintenance of peace through disarmament."

BUILDING ABLAZE

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

Again and again the vexed question of the wheat and cotton surpluses comes to the fore and is argued on the newspaper front pages and elsewhere.

Boards of trade and influential farmers request or demand that the farm board promise to keep the great "stabilization" holdings off the market until prices reach a certain figure. The farm board declares it will do nothing of the sort, but will retain freedom of action, reminding everybody that its reason for existence is to get the best possible prices for farmers, and that it is ridiculous to suppose that it will do anything that would tend to make prices lower.

The fundamental trouble, of course, is that the surpluses do exist, everybody knows they exist, and they cannot be hidden or forgotten.

Indeed, it is likely that the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and the 1,300,000 bales of cotton held by the stabilization corporations—these being the commonly accepted totals—are more conspicuous, more "in the show window," than if in private hands. Certainly never have excess supplies of any commodities been so well advertised.

As a matter of theory, a surplus ought to be less of a weight on prices when it is in "strong hands" than when it is privately owned, and subject to being "dumped" at any moment. That was the theory on which the marketing act was framed. But it appears that the endless controversies and extra advertising of the wheat and cotton over-supplies have more than neutralized that effect.

The position of the farm board is very simple, it says: "We own this stuff, it exists, it must be sold some time. The only other thing we could do would be to destroy it, and

MICE SHOW CANCER NOT HEREDITARY

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Overcoming woman's traditional fear of mice, Mrs. Maud Syle of the University of Chicago, has performed autopsies on 98,000 of them in the twenty-three years she has been studying heredity of cancer.

Her studies showed, she told medical men, that the odds against inheriting cancer tendency through many generations are large. Inbreeding a cancer-free male mouse with a cancer-ridden female through four generations, she discovered only twenty-three out of 205 progeny, developed cancer.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Trust ye in the Lord for ever: for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength.—Isaiah, xxvi, 4.

GARDENING

The most successful gardening movement in the history of our country was started in 1917, when the United States entered the World war. It was early decided that food would win the war. Every householder was urged to plant his home grounds. A multitude of people dug up their back and front yards, planted potatoes and beans and other good vegetables. While a great deal of very blundering work was done, a big addition was made to production, and it all helped end the war.

After that great effort passed, the garden movement languished somewhat. Millions of people of course have always had gardens and always will. They see no sense in buying vegetables, when they can raise them themselves. And they love the brightness and beauty of flowers. Instead of spending hundreds or thousands of dollars on extensive trips to find beauty in foreign lands or distant parts of the United States, they produce it in their own back yards.

The majority of people seem now to have too much wanderlust to settle down to spend their idle hours in a garden. They want to be on the go. Wherever they are, they long to be somewhere else. So their wet garden has grown up to weeds, while they continually pursue the will of the wisps of happiness on its never satisfying flight.

Meanwhile, if we neglect gardening, we allow our homes to lack beauty. Our towns become dull and mediocre. If we want a bright and cheerful home if we want a town which visitors will admire, we simply have to make that flower garden flourish.

The time will come when people will dislike to live in an undecorated home, as tasteful women dislike to dress in homely clothes. Such a home will seem ugly to them, and they will surround their dwellings with those smiling flowers that make a home look as if one loved it.

REGARDING PRISONS

The ninth report submitted by the Wickersham commission to Mr. Hoover thus castigates the prison system that still prevails in this country:

"We conclude that the present prison system is antiquated and inefficient. It does not reform the criminal. It fails to protect society. There is reason to believe that it contributes to the increase of crime by hardening the prisoner. We are convinced that a new type of penal institution must be developed, one that is new in spirit, in method and objective."

A good deal of that criticism is justified. Our prison system is antiquated. Apparently it does not reform many criminals. Quite likely it does in cases add to crime. The protection it extends to society is effective for the time being, whatever the ultimate consequences of it may be.

The Wickersham investigators base their recommendations for a new and better prison system on individualization. That is "scientific." The great difficulty that always will be encountered in the treatment of criminals as individuals lies in diagnosis. Obviously it is irrational to incarcerate a soft, young violator of a statute of questionable social importance, with seasoned second-story men; but what are you going to do when you find criminals as hard-boiled as at forty?

Certainly there is room for improvement in our treatment of those who stray from the straight and narrow path. Our prison system needs overhauling, as many of our other governmental institutions do. Only let us not be carried away by too great sympathy for those who have declared war on society. The element that obeys the laws and keeps society going is entitled to some consideration.

The crime problem is elemental. As far back as the dark morning on which Cain slew Abel, we have records of anti-social acts. As far as one can project his imagination into the future, we shall have them. Cruelty will not diminish them, any more than coddling will. Segregation gives society a respite from crime's depredations. Whether paroles and indeterminate sentences are to be encouraged and extended is a question still unanswered by experience. The more decent the treatment accorded to criminals the more indecent, apparently, their attitude toward society becomes. The arm of the law cannot safely be allowed to grow too weak and flabby.

Any improvement in the treatment of criminals in this country must come by act of the people; and any radical improvement can hardly be looked for, as long as so large a percentage of the respected citizenry impinges so heavily on the line that divides statutory crime from moral crime.

UP FROM NOTHING

As one reads obituary notices of leading men in business and politics, one sees that many of these personages rose from humble beginnings. One constantly reads that this or that man started without a penny, that he worked for a few dollars a week at the start.

For the average person, it is an advantage to start from a family that has money. It means so much in the way of education. But frequently the possession of money so takes the grit out of a boy, that he will never get far. And poverty acts as a spur. Some boys have so much training in overcoming obstacles, that nothing daunts them. They can just overcome anything.

No boy should think that his poverty is any real obstacle to his success. The principal obstacle lies in his own nature, in his unwillingness to work and learn.

"How do you determine which movies your children shall see?" asks a White House Conference on Child Health and Protection questionnaire. In general, by finding out which they have decided to see.

"Genius cannot be bequeathed," asserts the Kansas City Star. No, thank goodness.

One main objection to sending beneficiaries of the municipal bounty to Eloise has vanished. The way things are going, they wouldn't vote for the mayor in the coming primaries anyhow.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK.—The greatest free shows in New York are to be found in the radio broadcasting rooms. Few natives realize this.

How many Manhattanites know that, for the trouble of arranging for a pass, they can hear great symphony orchestras (in the flesh, not over the air), listen to crooners as they sway in dreamy, marcelled reverie, watch comedians "feed" and "gag" a few feet away, observe the dress and mannerisms of people who hitherto have been merely voices and names?

I have already told of the tenseness, the throbbing modernity which pervades the tall rooms whence amusement goes forth to millions. The audiences—enjoined to absolute silence, subject to instant ejection for chronic coughing (theatre coughers, please note)—represent an odd cross-section of the New York scene. They are well dressed, as a rule, and most of them are out-of-towners.

The attitude of the performers varies. Amos and Andy, for example, always broadcast privately; they will permit no visitors. Rudy Vallee, on the other hand, like most of the others, basks in the flattery of fans who are impelled to view him in the flesh.

Incidentally, radio "ghosting"—frowned on by the big networks—has developed further than most listeners realize. In Chicago not long ago a whole series of talks by "well-known movie stars" were delivered into recording machines by broadcasters who had practiced imitations of the purported stars until they were letter-perfect.

MEMORY

Putting around the Battery the other afternoon I glimpsed a great craft moving to sea in the blue haze, heard a deep, lowing siren that twanged old memories. It was the Leviathan, eastbound; the Leviathan, looking not a day older than when I boarded her in Cherbourg to return to my last year at school.

Irrelevantly, I thereupon recalled an incident in the dining saloon that trip. Every evening the waiter had delivered such an eloquent spiel on the merits of the crepes suzette, that I let him bring me an order, although I was invariably stuffed already. It seemed to make him happy, even if the luscious pastry went untouched.

On the last day I inquired: "John, why do you bring in that extra dessert every night? I never have room for it and it's wasted." He grinned sheepishly and whispered: "It's not wasted. We get whatever the guest leaves. I could eat those things three times a day. They aren't but a bite, sir; just little flapjacks!"

WITH A FAST CAMERA
Oscar of the Waldorf, associated with spangled feasts for a quarter of a century, never cooked a meal in his life and at home his wife shoos him out of the kitchen, according to James Remington McCarthy, whose "Peacock Alley," to be published soon, goes behind the scenes of the fashionable hotel.

The repavers are at work on Fifth avenue again, spattering traffic into the side-streets like a sledge on a stream of ants. . . . Quite recently they smoothed the surface from 8th to 42nd, now it's from 42nd to 60th. Already there are bumpy places along last year's stretch; so it goes.

A United States agent who worked in Chicago on the Al Capone tax drive told a group of newspapermen today that New York gangsters are "pikers." He added that he was certain Mr. Dutch Schultz couldn't have banked more than $2,000,000 in the last couple of years.

THE CONCERT OF NATIONS

WASHINGTON.—"Any able-bodied man," said Congressman Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, "can support himself and his family on a farm—provided he isn't too deeply in debt and his taxes aren't too heavy."

"A one-crop farmer can't, always. His crop may fail or sell for so little that he loses on it. "A farmer who diversifies judiciously is sure of a living. He has shelter. He can build his own sod house if necessary. He is sure of food. His own land and labor insure him a sufficiency of it. "Oh, he can live—primitively, pretty well, and mightily independently. "He can, if his creditors and the fore collector don't take all he can produce faster than he can produce it. But they do, these times—in the west, practically with no exceptions."

the speaks of the eastern farmer, as virtually a suburbanite), "advanced too rapidly?"

"Our entire network of enormously expensive rural roads—better than any but the biggest cities of living," queried the Dakotan, "pavedments only a few years ago—has been built since I cast my first vote. Our fine central schools, with buses to gather the young folk together and take them home again, are as recent. No country town of a handful of thousands population is without its waterworks and sewer system. "Despite the depression, every family drives its auto. Every house has its telephone. And its radio. I can remember when the ruralite, visiting a city hotel, was warned not to blow out the gas. Imagine him now as needing any instruction concerning the method of extinguishing the incandescent!"

"I quite appreciate," said the congressman, "the value of good roads and schools, of sewers and waterworks, of the telephone, the radio and the automobile."

"But consider. "New England was two centuries and a half in working up to all these modern improvements."

"In less than 50 years the west has equipped itself just as completely. "May it not be that the western farmer's living standard has developed out of proportion to the rate at which it was possible for the western soil to pay for it? "In short, has not western agriculture overworked its credit? "Modern convenience is splendid, but does not so young a region's possession of it explain the west's high taxes and burden of private indebtedness?"

If so, what's the remedy? "Ultimately," replied Representative Johnson, "no doubt the states will have to take over the land that can't meet taxes, and private mortgages will get their share under foreclosure."

Then what? "The land," answered the congressman, "will go, to new owners, for whatever the states and the foreclosing private mortgages can sell it for. They can't afford to hold it for long, non-productively, but will be forced to dispose of it cheaply, on easy terms of payment. "It will mean a new era, not of free land, as in the old days, but of very cheap land."

The generation of pioneers will be squeezed out, in the rising generation's favor? It seems a terrible injustice. "Life," said Congressman Johnson, "is full of injustices."

Well, one can see how it may follow as to the states' land holdings. But will not the foreclosing mortgages inaugurate a system of tenancy?

"I don't think so, to any great extent," said the representative. "Large scale or-chain farming may succeed with a crop like wheat where the yield is very large per acre, as in Kansas. Diversification, however, can only succeed by virtue of close personal management and attention. It is inherently individual. "Besides, however powerful a great land-holding company may be financially, its tenants will be more powerful electorally. They can soon make greedy landlordism unprofitable."

Today's Recipes
Corn and Minced Green Pepper—Six ears corn, one pepper, two tablespoons butter, salt and pepper. Cut corn from cob with a sharp knife. Mince pepper very fine and saute in butter. Put corn into pan with peppers, cook slowly until tender (about 20 minutes), and water as needed and stir frequently.

Stuffed Tomato Salad—Six whole tomatoes, one can or two cups peas, two tablespoons American cheese, four carrots, one-half cup celery, salt and pepper. Remove tops from tomatoes, scoop out center, chill, cube cheese, mince carrots and celery, mix with enough mayonnaise to moisten and fill cavities.

Blackberry Mousse—One quart of blackberries, one and one-half cups sugar, one tablespoon gelatin, two tablespoons cold water, one cup whipped cream. Wash and stem berries. Add sugar, let stand one hour, then cook five minutes and put through a sieve. Soak gelatin in cold water, add to hot berries and stir until dissolved. Let stand until soft jelly, then fold in whipped cream. Freeze in iceless, or in ordinary freezer.

Rats Give The Plague To Humans

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Plague is probably not considered by you to be a matter of personal danger. Yet we are living at the end of one of the great plague epidemics of history. Not since the thirteenth century had a great pandemic of plague swept the world. It reached its height in the fourteenth century, was known as the Black Death. Then it gradually subsided. For over a hundred years it was not heard of. It was supposed to be a thing of the past, like sweating sickness.

Then, in 1871, it broke out in China, thence traveled to India and by trade routes to the entire world. The pandemic was at its height in 1907, when every country in the world had a more or less serious experience with it. The reappearance of the plague was called by Dr. Osler the most important single fact in the modern study of contagious diseases.

In 1903 the California ground squirrel became infected with the disease and since then a few cases have occurred in the United States every year. Modern preventive medicine has kept it within bounds and usually confined it to seaport towns. Rats acquire the disease from fleas. Humans are infected by flea bites—from fleas that have been living on infected rats. Fleas can bite an infected human, sucking up his blood and then bite another human and inject the germ into the latter's blood with the bite.

Many other rodents can carry the disease—squirrels, woodchucks, prairie dogs, weasels, etc. The rat and the ground squirrel are probably the only ones dangerous to man. The existence of rats and rat colonies is always a potential source of danger. A columnist recently described an enormous rat colony on Riker's Island, near New York. It was estimated that there were 15,000,000 rats on Manhattan Island, most of them around the wharves. Rats always will appear where pieces of food and scraps are thrown out, and left uncovered. This should be impressed on workmen who eat lunch where they are working on a house or building. Scraps of lunches lying about will attract rats who set up housekeeping in new buildings and infect them permanently.

There is, of course, no plague danger in rats unless they become infected with the disease. But since they are susceptible to the disease at any time. They are found and it has been estimated that if 99 per cent of them did without breeding they could quadruple their numbers in a year. If there are 15,000,000 rats on Manhattan Island and they quadrupled their numbers in a year, and each rat harbored 35 fleas (which is an actual count) and they got infected with plague, you can figure out the consequences for yourselves.

For most communities, however, there is a safeguard in the fact that it is essentially a disease of hot climates. Outside of the immediate tropics this disease is rather definitely limited in the extent to which it will spread.

Editors Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feedings," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Wife Feels Like Leaving Mate

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Miss Lee: I have been married nearly 15 years; have a family and my husband is a very good-hearted man and good to his family but he never has any sympathy or affection for me. Says it looks foolish when I say anything to him about not caring for me any more."

"I work hard both out of doors and in the house, from early morning until dark at night. Sometimes I get discouraged and feel like leaving them alone for a spell and see if my family would appreciate me when I return."

"We are living in a very jealous neighborhood. One woman tries to have things in a mix-up all the time."

"May I also ask why blonde hair and blue eyes need to cause any trouble more so than black hair and dark eyes? It seems to me, I find."

"Wondering Lou." I have answered many questions signed "Wondering," my dear woman, think you have, probably, overlooked your answer. I think it is too bad that your husband does not show more affection and concern for you, but as he is good to you all I wouldn't let it grieve you too much. He might be the kind that made a fuss over you before your face and then was untrue to you. There are men like that.

He has simply gotten out of the habit of showing affection openly, and would feel foolish doing so, just as he says. It is no indication that he does not care. And as to the hard work you do and the many hours you put in, oh, my dear, how many million women are feeling just that very self-same way! I wonder how many every day go to bed worn out and sighing how hard they work and how tired they get and feel that if their families appreciated it all they wouldn't mind the drudgery. And wonder if they went away or died or something whether then they would be missed.

Families really do take mothers for granted and expect too much from them. Only when the youngsters are grown up and away from home do they realize what mother has done for them.

But you can look back on your own young days at home, doubtless, and remember that you also were not blameless in that respect toward your mother.

As to the troublesome neighbor. There is one such in every neighborhood. Yours is not unique in that respect. She is naturally worried about a husband so much younger than herself, and one whom she married when he was in his teens. Sympathize with her and don't let her drag you into any unpleasantness if you can help it.

It's funny about the blondes that "gentlemen prefer." It used to be the dark-eyed and haired gals were fore, fly to their aid. Maybe the blue-eyed, fair haired lassies seem innocent and helpless and our gallant gentlemen, therefore, fly to their aid.

M. C.: Your wife is little different than others. Very few folk like to listen to other people's woes. They all have enough of their own.

Take the tip. Take care of your health so that the disease, a predisposition to which you may have inherited, does not get a hold on you. If you do not know how so to a good doctor and ask his advice. Make up your mind to be a stoic. Sympathize with your wife if she has troubles, but don't inflict yours on her. "Laugh and the world laughs with you," you know. "Weep and you weep alone." That is more or less true.

There are approximately 23,000 stones in the Washington monument.

Cool, Fresh Girl Makes Impression

By GLADYS GLAD

Only the most confirmed pessimist would ever attempt to assert that the summer season is not a gay, happy one. For there are so many pleasant things to be done in the summer time. You play tennis and golf in the sun, you take long hikes in the verdant country, and you swim and you sail and you stay out of doors as long as you can. And your appearance when you participate in these gay pastimes is important. For you meet new people, make new friends and, of course, you want to impress them favorably.

The girl who keeps herself looking cool and fresh during the torrid weather is certainly going to have it all over the female who looks as wilted as an over-worked starched collar the minute she gets out of doors. And so often it is arms and shoulders alone that belie a girl's appearance of coolness and freshness. For moist, shiny, damp-looking arms and shoulders will make a girl look hot and uncomfortable, no matter how cool she appears otherwise.

Fashion decrees that no matter how tiny the smart summer frock must have sleeves. But shoulders and arms are being displayed in their entirety, nevertheless. For comfort calls for sleeveless gowns, no matter what style may demand. And most women heed fashion only so far as they like.

If you are going to turn up your little nose at fashion's decree and wear sleeveless frocks, first make sure that your arms are really pretty enough to be displayed. If there are any blemishes, roughness or discolorations, eliminate them before you expose your arms to the public gaze.

I often wonder when I see hot-armed women, with cool, carefully powdered faces, why they are so economical with their powder. For a film of powder can help a great deal to keep the arms looking nice. After you cleanse your arms, rub shoulders, always fluff a liberal amount of powder on them, and then lightly wipe off any excess. Some women prefer the liquid powder for this purpose, as it is more tenacious. A tiny, faint blur of rouge on the cheeks will help to increase the loveliness of the arms. If you make up your arms and shoulders as carefully as you do your face, they'll look as if they really belonged to you, and not to some other careless, neglectful individual.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Nose

Worried: The only way that I know of in which you may actually have your nose straightened is by plastic surgery. Prices for such operations vary. You may inquire as to the standing of any surgeon at your department of health.

Dry Hair

Bunny: Daily hair brushing and scalp massages, and frequent oil shampoos will correct the dryness of your hair. There would be no particular advantage in using the preparation you name on your scalp.

Rubber Girdle

Worried: A rubber girdle will help to reduce your hips and waist if it is worn while you are exercising or taking long walks. A cotton or glow silk vest should be worn beneath the girdle to absorb the perspiration.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While it is impossible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail she will be happy to send you her pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling. For her articles on "Care of the Hands and Nails" and "Care of the Feet and Legs," two cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope are required. Personal questions on beauty will be answered through Miss Glad's daily column.

The Graham Paints and the Wood Barbers National League softball teams, are just where they were this time Thursday in the league standing as the result of dividing a double header at Cox Field Friday evening.

The Paints won the first game by shutting out the barbers 7 to 0 and then dropped the second game, abbreviated to four and one-half innings by darkness, by the score of 8 to 4. The second game was postponed from June 26 when the teams were prevented from getting together in a regular scheduled contest.

Errors contributed to the Graham victory in the first contest, since both pitchers were in form and gave evidence of unbending themselves of a pitching duel had the support stood up under the strain. But two big innings put the winners over in this fracas, the Paints scoring all their runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

Kersey opened the fourth with a life on Finlay's error. The winners were safe on an error by Reeves. L. Cope walked to force in a run, leaving the bases clogged. Bolser then shed himself of a home run and it was all over but the shouting. The homer was the only hit of the inning. Another home run produced the next two runs, Milburn hammering out a four base clout in the fifth after W. Cope was safe on Reeves' error. The winners wasted two hits in the sixth. Downey permitted six hits and kept them scattered one to an inning, while the Paints got five hits off Townsley, two of them homers.

Seeing a five-hit pitching effort not good enough to win, Hurley limited the Paints to two hits in the second game while Downey weakened and the barbers took advantage of this to smack out eleven hits and score eight runs. Errors and a hit helped bring the runs in the first. Shaw singled in the third and was plated on a homer by New Murrell and in the sixth an error, five singles and a double produced four more runs.

Fulkerson hit for the circuit to produce the Paints' first run in the second, Hurley fanning the other three batters who faced him in that inning. Two errors and this second hit of the side, scored three runs for the losers in the fourth. Since four and one-half innings were completed before darkness, the game goes in the records as a complete contest. The scores:

P. S. A telegram received by this column at 10:24 Saturday morning was sent from Toronto, Canada by Phil Frame at 9:45 a. m., thus getting him up unusually early. It read as follows: "Footnotes moved me to tears. Dorothy Parker rushed to rescue Phil. This column is a record. Tears moved me to tears. Dorothy Parker already affected this column. This column affected too much affected. Lord Dawson of Penn."

Young Red Faber of the Chicago White Sox (he is only 43) and the only spitballer still left in the American League lost a tough game recently and consoled himself by considering his seventeen-year record. Since joining the Sox in 1914, Red has worked in almost 3,800 innings. He has won 240 games while losing 186. His best years were: 1915, won 24, lost 13; 1920 won 23, lost 13; 1921, won 25 lost 15 and 1922, won 21 and lost 17.

Women's National Golf Champion Written for Central Press and The Gazette

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth of a series of instructive golf articles written by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vane, national champion and America's best known woman golfer, for Central Press Association and The Gazette.

Number 9 I have found the one basic principle that influences accuracy and direction and helps tremendously in getting maximum distance on all shots is this: keep the arms straight.

The left arm should be straight on the backswing as the player can possibly get it. That's no news to the good players—but all be straight on the backswing as the player can possibly get it.

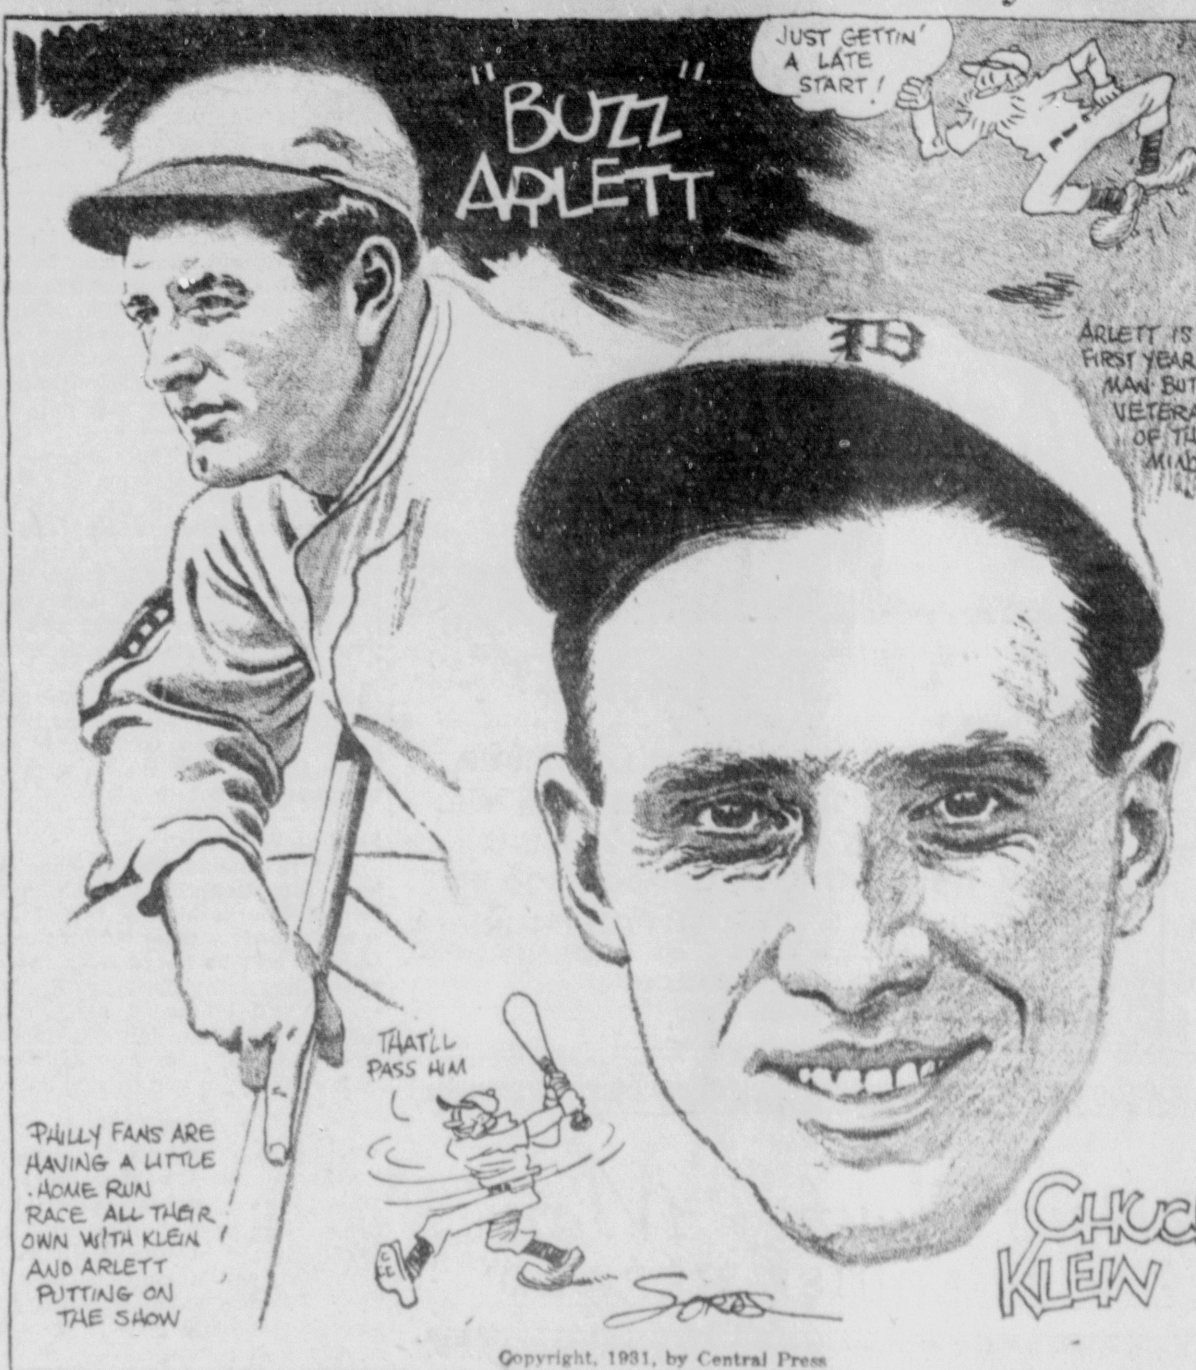

Glenna Collett, winners should learn this fact as soon as possible and never forget it. Watching any good golfer and noting her correct swing proves this.

Breaking the left at the elbow on the backswing is a fault common to many players. If you discover yourself employing this habit, do not be discouraged but correct religiously to overcome this fault.

While the left arm should be straight on the backswing the right should be straight when the club head is coming into the ball. This arm should remain straight in the early stage of the follow through.

In my next article I'll outline the qualities you must possess to become a good tournament player and how to develop what match players call the "competitive mind."

EIGHTY-ONE ENTRIES IN CLASS EVENTS FOR COUNTY FAIR RACES

With eighty-one horses entered in the various class events, entry lists for which closed Thursday night, and eighty-two already entered for the five stake races, the three day Greene County fair meeting next week will have a full program, in the opinion of Secretary J. Robert Bryson.

The Dr. H. M. Parshall stables, Urbana, will be well represented among the horses at the local track, fifteen head belonging to that well known horseman, having been entered.

Ray Henley, local entry in the 2:14 pace, owned by George Hagler, and trained and driven by Joe Hagler, looks fit to horsemen say, to go a fast mile on his home track. High class speedsters entered here include many of the best. Nick Silk, by Blazen Silk, driven by Gabie Cartnal and owned by Linn Wilson won the 2:14 trot at Newark in 2:05 1/2 and will start in the 2:14 trot here. Joe Wattle, 2:05 1/2, who scored his sixth victory in the 2:18 trot at Newark, is also a contender in the 2:14 trot here.

Wilma, 2:05 1/2, who won here last year will be a contender to watch on the 2:14 pace. All Pep in the Parshall stable, entered in the two-year-old trot, secured a breeder's record of 2:14 1/2 at Cleveland. This colt is owned by A. T. Cole, Wheaton, Ill.

Lantern by Signal Wheaton in "Doc" Vail's stable, was second at Cleveland in 2:08 and is in the 2:18 trot here. His owner, C. E. Crowley, lives in Cleveland. Lou Chan, entered in the 2:18 pace, was second in 2:05 1/2 at Grand Rapids. He is from the Plaxico stables at Columbus. Confidence, by U. Forbes, won in 2:07 1/2 at Grand Rapids and is a 2:22 trotter here.

Jake Worthy, 2:06 1/2, is still eligible for the 2:18 pace here. He is in Harry Short's stable, Circleville. Peter Nutonia won at Kalamazoo in 2:04 and will have something to say in the 2:14 pace. He was driven by "Spec" Brakine. Napoleon Khan won a heat in 2:03 1/2 at Kalamazoo and is Doc Parshall's entry in the 2:14 pace. Counterpart, 2:02 1/2, who holds the track record here of 2:04 1/2, is again entered in the free-for-all pace.

HERE WOULD be an interesting setup among the heavyweights: Sharkey to battle Carnera. Walker to take on Tommy Loughran.

The two winners to meet for the right to clash with the jarring German and his world heavyweight title. The first two matches would be highly interesting. The public gave evidence of becoming steamed up over the proposed battle between the gob and the Italian giant (which had been scheduled for this month) when Madison Square Garden intervened and stopped arrangements. The Garden had Carnera lined up for a crack at Schmeling and the papers said Primo could not meet a contending heavyweight until he had disposed of or been disposed of by Moxie.

When the Garden obtained a cancellation of the battle it left unanswered the question of whether Primo could really lick as good a man as the gobby gob.

SHARKEY, regardless of his showing against the Mick, would be a good match with Carnera. However, a tussle between Walker and Loughran would be still better. Tommy gave Walker a 10-round pasting in 1929 when the Toy Bulldog tried to win Loughran's lightweight crown.

Loughran has improved some since then. Walker has improved a great deal. They are the two lightest men among the heavy weight contenders today and would be bound to make a much better match than the Mickey-Jack bout was.

A fight between any two winners of those bouts would be an attractive one and would produce as logical a contender for the heavy weight crown as we've had since Gene Tunney's pre-title days.

DROP FIFTY-FIVE GUARDS FROM PEN

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Fifty-five guards at Ohio Penitentiary were dismissed from the payroll today as a part of assistant welfare Director W. J. Kennedy's program for a reduction in expenses to meet the seven percent state's order for all state departments by State Finance Director Howard L. Bevis.

Officials at the prison said the dismissal of the fifty-five guards would effect a saving of approximately $7,500 a month. Warden P. E. Thomas assured that the reduction of the guard force would not affect the continuance of maintenance of order and safety at the prison.

Ball Yard Banter

BROOKLYN'S pitching problems may some day be solved for Down in Richmond, Va., there's a young hurler—20-year-old Jimmy Patterson—who has just tossed a no-hit no-runner Jimmy is the property of the Robins.

The Chicago Cubs are leading their league in hitting and fielding, but they're a few kilometers out of first place in the standing. What's the answer?

Every team save one in the National league is outbating every team in the American holding the same relative position in the batting lists. Fifth place St. Louis Browns have a few strokes edge on the fifth place Brooklyn Robins.

The Robins still have some two weeks of batting on the road before they return to Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, for a stay. However, their fans from now on until they get home won't be as tough as recent ones were.

The four leading Philadelphia Athletics pitchers have won nearly 60 games. That's 15 more than have been turned in by the four leading St. Louis Cardinal mounds-men.

FINED THIRD TIME; THREE OTHERS ALSO FINED AFTER FIGHT

Glenn Johnson drew his third fine of $25 and costs in less than three weeks in municipal court Saturday.

Judge E. D. Smith found Johnson guilty of disorderly conduct, and also made a finding of the same nature against his wife Hazel, and Ed Thoroman his brother-in-law and neighbor on Walnut St. Each drew a $25 fine, and all made arrangements to pay and were released. A disorderly conduct charge against Everett Thoroman, son of Edward Thoroman, was dismissed.

The quartet was arrested as the result of what is said to have been a free-for-all fight which started after Johnson and his wife, who is suing him for divorce, met to fix up their affairs preliminary to separation.

Johnson was first arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge preferred by his wife, July 16 and was fined $25. Two days later he was again before the court on a charge of assault and battery on complaint of his mother-in-law. That time he was fined $25 and costs and given thirty days in jail. After serving a few days he was released on payment of his fine. While he was in jail, his wife sued him for divorce.

INTER-ISLAND PLANES HONOLULU, Aug. 1.—Transportation between the various Hawaiian islands has been speeded up by use of the airplane. The Inter-island Airways, a flying company, now maintains four amphibian planes which are kept in regular service among the islands. Rough inter-island channels are now crossed in rapid time instead of lengthy trips by boats.

On Society Beach

Betty Gerard, pretty member of the elite younger set of New York, is the photographer in the aristocratic sands of Bailey's Beach, Newport, R. I., as she joins the Summer colony of Gotham's high society folk. And a welcome addition, we'd say, to any party.

Back to London

Fully equipped with his famous underling pipe, Charles G. Dawes, American Ambassador to the Court of St. James, is shown sailing from New York to resume his diplomatic duties in London after a Summer sojourn in the United States. He is expected to play an important part in straightening out Europe's economic crisis.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The stock market gave a fairly satisfactory account of itself in a quiet week-end session today, with continued liquidation in special issues largely offset by the irregular improvement recorded in the rank and file of speculative favorites.

Heavy pressure was brought to bear against both Case Thrashing and International Nickel, on reports that a downward revision in dividend rates will be ordered at the next meeting of each. Case Thrashing, after breaking to a new bear market low at 52 1/2, rallied to 54 1/2 for a net loss on the day of 1 1/2 points. International Nickel was offered in large blocks, sinking to 12, for a net decline of 1/2 point.

The Theater

Speaking of first-class, dyed-in-the-wool, honest to Agnes movie entertainment, just read this list of titles of pictures to appear at Xenia theaters next week: "Kiki," "Shipmates," "Women of All Nations," "Little Accident," "Many A Slip," "Women Love Once" and "Kiss Me Again."

Here is a range of screen entertainment from the sublime to the ridiculous, from hilarious comedy to passionate romance. It includes pictures made from tried stage successes and from original stories and covers a list of stars that is a cross section of Hollywood's telephone book.

Mary Pickford comes to the Orphium Theater Sunday and Monday in a United Artists sound version of the old success, "Kiki" in which Miss Pickford plays a role foreign to her past experiences. Xenians will remember Norma Talmadge in a silent version of this Delightful nonsense is at the Orphium Tuesday and Wednesday in the Carle Laemmle Universal presentation of a starful bit of hilarious celluloid called "Little Accident." It is a screen version of the prize-winning stage success by Thomas Mitchell and Floyd Dell and has been given a sparkling cast. Douglas Fairbanks and pretty Anita Page play the leads, but they are ably aided by "Slim" Summerville, Zasu Pitts, Joan Marsh, Sally Blane, Roscoe Karns, Myrtle Stedman and others.

The Orphium's busy week of entertainment follows with Joan Bennett and Lewis Ayres, in another Universal starring number called "Many A Slip," rated as one of the season's most hilarious comedies. It is delightful tomfoolery and includes many of your favorite players, such as "Slim" Summerville, Ben Alexander, Virginia Sale, Roscoe Karns, Vivian Oakland and J. C. Nugent.

A Western called "Wild West Whoopie," featuring Jack Perrin and his horse, "Starlight," will be the Orphium attraction Saturday.

BOOTLEGGER KILLS U. S. AGENTS

Bootlegging is responsible for the plight of George Adams, Polish slayer of two special U. S. prohibition agents, John Wilson, of Indianapolis, and Walter Gilbert, of Cincinnati, O., at Ft. Wayne, Ind. The two men had entrapped Adams, a convicted bootlegger, into delivering a load of whisky. Two other agents also were fired upon but escaped Adams' bullets. Above, he is with the four policemen who captured him five hours after the shooting.

Farm Notes

OHIO DAIRYMEN TO MEET AT WOOSTER

Dairymen from all parts of Ohio will hold their fourth Annual Field Day at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, on Friday, August 14.—The program is arranged to provide something for every member of the family.

The forenoon will be given over to inspection of the cattle, judging contests by 4-H clubs and vocational students, and the regular group speaking program. The special ladies' program will be a feature again this year; the subjects for discussion are, "Insects of the Home and Home Grounds," "The Value of Dairy Products in the Diet," and "Important Things to Know About the Fabrics We Buy."

Twenty-five minute talks will be given on the following subjects: Feeding wheat and sea foods to dairy cattle, the use of feed analyses in making up dairy rations, the steps necessary to produce grade A milk, sterilizing dairy equipment, the effects of heat on the nutritive value of milk, cooling milk at the farm, hay crops and pasture for the dairy farm, the effects of methods of marketing on milk supply, the health of the herd, Bangs' disease, and sterility. The crowd will be divided into sections and some talks repeated so that dairymen may select the talks they wish to hear.

The State Breed Associations will meet promptly at 12 o'clock for short conferences and to get acquainted. Beginning at 1:30, there will be addresses by C. G. Williams, director of the Experiment Station, L. L. Rummell, of the Dairymen's Legislative Committee, and Congressman Charles Brand. Following these addresses there will be a question hour. Bring your questions.

Games and athletic contests will be provided for the children, beginning at 1:30. This feature has been much enjoyed at previous field days.

candidacy. But all the indications have pointed to his desiring to succeed himself next year.

Yet, despite all these indications and despite precedent, rumors will not down in Washington that Mr. Hoover is a disappointed man, and unless conditions are not materially improved by next spring he may decide he has had enough of it. The friends of Mr. Hoover indignantly deny such rumors. Nevertheless, they persist.

It is taken for granted that Mr. Hoover will be renominated almost without opposition if he desires it. Mr. Hoover faces a difficult year ahead, after two of the ad-mitedly toughest years any president ever faced. The depression, now two years old, is still with him and showing few signs of lifting. There is unemployment in the industrial centers and 25 cent wheat in the grain belt. The famous prosperity of his predecessor is but a bitter memory.

And to cap this sheaf of trouble, there is a congress coming on in December such as no president ever has been called upon to deal with—a congress so evenly divided as between the parties as to defy prediction at this time as to which party will even be able to organize it. The heat bet, in any event, is that it will be controlled by Mr. Hoover's political opponents, both senate and house.

The opening gavel next December will be the signal for perhaps the greatest torrent of criticism that congress has ever visited upon an executive. Every Hoover policy, both foreign and domestic, is in for high-powered shelling.

Given six months of that, on top of his troubles for the past two years, and the belief that is entertained even by some of his friends that he cannot be re-elected, it might well be that Mr. Hoover would decide to let someone else assume the burden. It is purely conjectural, of course, but it is the type of conjecture that the politicians are now engaged in.

Col. Coupal's prediction that "Coolidge is willin'" rather contradicts, however, a story of longstanding in the capital concerning Mr. Coolidge's future. As this story goes, the former president was asked pointblank by a caller at his Northampton home one day whether he would be a candidate in 1932.

After reflecting a while, Mr. Coolidge is said to have replied with his usual terseness: "If Mr. Hoover's administration is successful, he will succeed himself. If Mr. Hoover's administration is not successful, the Republican nomination won't be worth having."

GEORGE B. OLDHAM, FORMER XENIAN, IS REMOVED BY DEATH

George B. Oldham, 76, former resident of Xenia, died at 7 a. m. Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. O. McDorman, 1414 Pythian Ave., Springfield, where he had made his home for the last year. He had been ill for a month.

Mr. Oldham had been a resident of Jamestown and Xenia most of his life, but since his retirement from business as a travelling salesman a few years ago, had lived in Dayton and Springfield. He was born at Jamestown.

Surviving are two daughters and a son, Mrs. McDorman, Mrs. Thomas Lee, Mt. Arlington, N. J. and Harold Oldham, Massillon. There are five grand children. Mr. Oldham was a birthright member of the Friends Church.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Monday at the Herr and Craver Funeral Home, Springfield. Burial will be made in Jamestown Cemetery.

BELLBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Swallow and daughter Francis, of Belmont, were visitors in the village on Sunday.

Word was received here Tuesday of the death of George Mills, which occurred at the St. Elizabeth Hospital on last Monday. Mr. Mills was a resident of Bellbrook for many years, but the past thirty years of his life was spent in Dayton.

Sugar Creek Twp. has one of the latest 4-H Girls Clubs in the County. They started out in the spring with twenty-seven members and the average attendance since that time has been seventeen. There are four different projects in the club. They are: summer clothing, useful articles, simple desserts and attractive rooms. Mrs. Reising is leader of the club. The officers are Mary Pierce, president; Virginia Lackey, secretary; Mrs. Reising treasurer; Margaret Moore, recreation leader; Irma Zurowets, news reporter. They have had eleven meetings this summer. The simple desserts girls served lunch at each meeting July 28 the club will have an all-day meeting and will make a float to be exhibited at the Greene County fair on club day.

The local softball aggregation, led by General Norb Reising journeyed to Beavertown on Wednesday evening and attacked a combination team composed of Beavertown and Passadenia players who had been rehearsing for the event in everything but the rule book. A well-played game with the result hanging in the balance till almost the "last horn" was turned into a two-score lead for the Bellbrook team in the first half of the ninth inning. With two down in the last half, and no count, the home team seemed on the verge of consigning to the junk pile, when a long drive to left field scored two runs for the locals. The visitors strongly protested against the scores being counted and demanded that the two would-be score-getters be placed back on the bases, their grounds for the protest being that the scoring was done on a dead ball which had been called by the home umpire. Being unable to effect a reconciliation the game terminated amid a shower of high-classed arguments such as are to be found only on a ball diamond.

Mrs. Joseph Ledbetter (mother of Lee Ledbetter of S. Main St.) was agreeably surprised on last Sunday when several score of old friends and relatives with well-filled baskets, assembled at the home of her son to remind her that she had reached her 85th birthday. The gathering was made up of five generations. Mrs. Ledbetter's mother now past 86, being present to enjoy the occasion. The feast which was a bounteous one, was followed by a good social time in which games were enjoyed by the younger generations and a review of "old times" by the older generations. Those present to enjoy the happy event were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ledbetter, Mrs. Edith Curl, Miss Jane Curl, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Armentrout, Mr. Kenneth Ledbetter, William Armentrout, Harold Ledbetter, Mary Louise Armentrout, Elwood Ledbetter, Mrs. Dorothy Wead, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Henning and son Walter, Margaret Joseph Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ledbetter.

Drivers of sixes never want less

because it takes six cylinders to give the smooth, silent power that makes driving really enjoyable

Ask some of your friends who own sixes if they would ever consider driving a car with fewer cylinders again. Their answers explain why sixes are so popular today.

Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than of giving up any other real advancement of motoring. For them, the whole cylinder question has been settled, once and for all.

Drive a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know the reason why. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice how silently it runs. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smooth flow of power.

Change into "second," hit a faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to barely a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone.

Then, before you leave the six-cylinder Chevrolet, raise the hood while the engine is running—take a look at the source of its performance. The firm, steady operation of six cylinders means lasting dependability. Wearing vibration is reduced. There is less need for repairs.

Over two million owners have proved the value of Chevrolet's six-cylinder design. They have found that Chevrolet costs less for gas, oil and upkeep than any other automobile. They have found it smoother, quieter, more enjoyable in operation! They know a six is better—and would never be satisfied with less!

Congratulations

For more than a decade Xenians have worked towards complete modernization of civic electrical facilities. For years citizens have turned untiring efforts to the problem of fulfilling these worthy desires.

... now a new boulevard lighting system beautifies your streets. A turn of a switch and darkened streets become paths of brilliance, safety and charm.

... now modern traffic signals protect motorists and pedestrians. And a new police call system makes Xenia an even safer city.

It is impossible to estimate the good that will come of these improvements. Your city will be more beautiful. It will be safer. It will impress visitors with greater favor. Above all, Xenia will be a better city in which to live. And good planning has given the entire project the added virtue of economy.

Congratulations on a "better Xenia." The Dayton Power and Light Company is proud of its modest contribution to the completion and success of these civic improvements.
